Byrnes Says Truman, Eight Key Officers Got FBI Word on White

WHAT'S ALL THE EXCITEMENT? Richard Lee Stammet gurgles happily in Durant, Okla., as he waits for his early morning feeding. The 5-month-old baby, missing since Nov. 6 when a 17-year-old baby sitter disappeared with him, was found at a farm home near Bokchite, Okla., by FBI agents. The baby sitter, Mrs B R Doughty, was arrested and quickly arraigned on a federal charge of kidnaping.

Arab Killings Censured by Big 3 in U.N.

Israel Taken To Task; Delay Call for Action By Security Council

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Big Three have denounced Israel before the U. N. for the recent killing of 53 Arabs in the Jordan border village of Kibya. But they have agreed to hold off a call for Security Council action until both sides have their say.

Israel's Chief Delegate Abba Eban told the council he will plead his government's case when the hearing is resumed Thursday.

Faces More Criticism

Israel, meanwhile, faced another going-over today before the council on neighboring Syria's complaint she is stealing the life-giving waters of the Jordan from Arab farmers by diverting the river for an Israeli hydroelectric project.

Israel agreed—at the U. N.'s behest—to halt work on the Jordan project while the council debates the Syrian complaint. But Israeli sources indicated last night if the council does not take action soon, she will seek permission to resume work.

Britain, France and the United States last night joined in strongly censuring the Oct. 14 Kibya raid by Armed Israeli as a flagrant violation of the already strained Palestine armistice. They said the incident endangered the peace in the Middle East. They appealed to Israel to stop trying to justify the incident as a logical act of reprisal and to help bring the guilty ones to justice.

Await Israel's Stand

An authoritative Big Three source said today Eban's response to the Western censure largely will determine how strong the wording of their resolution on the border killings is to be.

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb spearheaded the Big Three rebuke, labeling the Kibya incident a "threat to the security of the entire area."

Declaring the raid was "apparently calculated," Jebb said the "whole situation is made worse by the apparent unwillingness of the Israel government to punish those responsible and hence, by implication, their willingness to condone it."

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the council evidence left "no doubt" that armed Israeli forces had made the Kibya attack. He added that his government subscribed to Britain's stand in the matter.

Israel has maintained that the raid was made by local village defense forces—not the Israeli army—in reprisal for an earlier Jordan raid on the Israeli hamlet of Yahude in which a woman and two children were slain.

Marion Charter Group Elects Officers

Walter D. Moore Is Elected Chairman At First Meeting

Election of officers was the first order of business of Marion's newly elected city charter commission at an organizational meeting held last night at the YMCA.

Officers elected by the 15-member commission were Walter D. Moore, chairman; Dr. Frederick T. Merchant, assistant chairman; Roy H. Waddell, treasurer; and Miss Edith Brown, secretary.

The meeting opened with J. E. Oliphant, chairman of the Non-Partisan Home Rule Study Committee which supported formation of the charter commission, serving as temporary chairman.

IN A BRIEF talk Oliphant told the members the should remember they were elected on a non-partisan ticket and should have no party ties in their work on the commission. "No one is holding any strings on you whatsoever—I want that to be clear," he said.

Following this he called for nominations for officers and appointed Henry Mickley as temporary secretary.

Upon his election as chairman, Moore outlined the work of the commission. Likening their task to the writing of a "constitution" for Marion, he called on the members to plan to complete the job "before hot weather of 1954."

PLAN OF THE commission, he suggested, will be to formulate a city charter, draw it up, then submit it to Marion voters at public meetings to get their reaction to any possible objectionable feature.

Purpose of this is to make the proposed charter acceptable to the voters and insure its passage at the election next November, he explained.

Moore objected to one suggestion that much of the work be done in subcommittees, and said he felt as much of the work as possible should be done by the commission as a whole. This met with approval of other members.

In other business the commission:

Directed Miss Brown, the secretary, to write to other cities using the home rule charter plan and obtain copies of their charters, one from each such city for each member of the commission.

Decided to ask for public subscription of $1 or $2 from Marion residents to offset various incidental expenses of the commission.

Discussed possibility of employing a stenographer to be responsible for making a record of all commission meetings.

Decided to open each meeting with a few moments of silent prayer to "ask God for guidance in our work."

Decided to hold regular meetings once each week on Monday nights at the YMCA beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The first regular meeting of the commission will be held next Monday night.

Ex-Secretary Of State Will Talk in Probe

Senators Follow Lead Given by Brownell On Alleged Espionage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators announced today Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina will be asked "for his recollection" of an FBI memorandum linking Harry Dexter White to Communist espionage.

Byrnes, who was secretary of state in former President Truman's administration, said in a statement last night he recalled the FBI document. He said he talked with Truman about it early in 1946—at the time Truman was advancing White from assistance secretary of the Treasury to U. S. representative on the International Monetary Fund.

The Senate internal security subcommittee, headed by Sen. Jenner (R - Ind), said it would ask for Byrnes' recollection of the incident.

Vaughn To Be Called

The group also announced it definitely will question Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, who was Truman's military aide, at a closed session at 2 p.m. Thursday, and will also take testimony from Miss Ruth Anderson who was Vaughan's secretary at the White House.

The Senate group did not say Gov. Byrnes would be asked to testify but a committee spokesman indicated this may happen, if agreable to Byrnes.

Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, said he suggested that Truman withdraw White's nomination to a higher government post—a nomination Atty. Gen. Brownell contends was made early in 1946 despite an FBI report that White was engaged in Soviet Espionage.

'Don't Recall Report'

Two other former members of Truman's official family said last night they did not recall such a report, but Byrnes said he read it, went to the White House and told Truman he was "shocked," and asked what the President intended to do about it.

"The President stated he had read the report and that he also was surprised," Byrnes said.

At the time Brownell first made the accusations, Truman said, "I don't recall that such a thing happened." He has also said, "It was never proved that White was a spy . . . He was never indicted by a grand jury."

Byrnes and Truman have be-

Big Three Meeting Is Set for Bermuda

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will meet with Britain's Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Laniel Dec. 4 in Bermuda to develop new policies to counter Russia's threat to Western security.

The five-day meeting, suggested by Churchill, will also bring together Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault to review joint Western strategy.

The apparent toughening of Russia's anti-Western policies presumably would rank high among the topics.

To Chart Course

Informed officials said the Bermuda sessions will be held primarily to decide what course the West should take in view of Russia's latest note rejecting the Allies' bid to a Big Four foreign ministers conference in Switzerland. That session was to have begun yesterday.

At his news conference last week, Eisenhower said the Soviet Union in its reply, seemed to be trying to prevent a Big Four conference "by injecting impossible conditions."

The President added at that time the Soviet reply "manifests no intention to get together, but an intention to create as many difficulties as possible."

The Big Three had planned to meet in Bermuda last July. The conference first was delayed because of a French government crisis, then postponed because of the illness of Churchill.

Eisenhower leaves Thursday for a visit to Canada. He plans to return to Washington Sunday.

The future of Western Germany, diplomats said, will be the foremost issue at the Bermuda meeting, but the Western leaders also will discuss such Far Eastern problems as Korea and the war in Indochina.

Russia Rebuffs Bid

The parley was said to have been arranged over the weekend at Churchill's suggestion. Sir Winston has been anxious to meet with Eisenhower, but his health prevented a projected Big Three meeting in Bermuda last July.

American officials acquainted with top policy matters said Eisenhower agreed to the sessions in view of Russia's unexpectedly tough note to the Western Powers.

Commission Ready To Quit On POW Talks

Hope of Restarting Interviews Virtually Gone, Thimayya Says

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Indian command today all but abandoned hope for getting the stalled prisoner of war explanation program under way again and told the Communists that any solution is up to them.

"It seems better to face the situation as it is rather than to go on with these interminable stoppages," said Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

Thimayya met for four hours with the Communist high command at Kaesong Monday night. He told a news conference he would see the Red generals again in two or three days.

It appeared likely that the Com-

Observance Tomorrow

Parade, Courthouse Rite Will Mark Armistice Day

More than twenty veterans organizations, auxiliaries and other groups will participate in the annual Armistice Day parade in downtown Marion Wednesday night.

The parade, at 8 p.m., and an earlier 11 a.m. ceremony at the Courthouse, will feature Marion's observance of Armistice Day.

THE CITY'S SCHOOLS, banks, and government offices, including the City building, Courthouse, and state auto license bureau, will be closed tomorrow. No mail deliveries will be made except special delivery.

The parade is scheduled to move up Center St. at 8 p.m. from the staging area at Park Blvd. and Olney and Blaine Aves. Armistice Day services at the Courthouse at 11 a.m. will be in charge of Elton Butler of Waldo, County Legion commander. All veterans groups in the city and County will take part in the observances.

Led by J. A. Dripps, the grand marshal and his staff, the first division of the parade will include the Police escort, Eagles band, Eagles auxiliary, Mayor Harold Robinson and other city officials, Marion Engineer Depot officials, Gold Star Mothers and Blue Star Mothers.

IN THE SECOND division, which is commanded by Fred Thacker, will be the Bird-McGinnis Drum and Bugle Corps, Company "C," Ohio National Guard, all veterans organizations and auxiliaries and the Motorcycle Defense Corps.

The third division commanded by Eugene White will include the Harding High School Band, Boy and Cub Scout units, Morral High School band, Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs and the Marion Saddle Club. The fourth division will consist of floats and motorized equipment. Commander of this division is Elton Butler.

Veterans groups in the parade will include the city and county Legion posts, Amvets, Navy Club, Dyer Bird chaptper of the Rainbow Division, Spanish American War veterans, and the Marion Chapter of the DAV.

LINE OF MARCH will be east on Center St. from Olney Ave. to State St., south on State St. to Church, and west on Church to Pearl St. where the parade will disband. Howard E. Tweddle is chairman of the Armistice Day parade committee and Gerald Messerger is chairman.

Dr. George Pfleiderer will be master of ceremonies at the Armistice Day services at the Courthouse. Invocation will be given by Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., pastor of St. Mary Catholic Church and the benediction by Rev. S. C. Long of the Waldo Lutheran Church. Roll call will be given for Caledonia, Marion Gl, LaRue, Prospect, Waldo and Marion Bird-McGinnis American Legion posts and for the VFW, Navy Club, Amvets, DAV and 40 et 8.

Political Eyes Watch Election In California

Democrat Win Would Cut GOP House Lead To Only Two Seats

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The final congressional election of the year drew nationwide attention today to the 4th California District, where a Democratic victory would reduce the Republican House majority to two representatives.

The registrar of voters has forecast a 40 per cent turnout, or about 66,000 votes, in the special election.

In their campaign, Republican forces emphasized that success for them would constitute a vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration.

The Democrats, steamed up by recent triumphs in Wisconsin and New Jersey, have indicated that they would regard a victory as a definite straw in the political wind.

The House lineup at present is 218 Republicans, 215 Democrats, 1 independent and 1 vacancy—the seat which will be filled today.

Two Democrats and two Republicans are in the local race, and the one who polls the most votes will win. There will be no runoff.

School District Merger With City Discussed

Dissolution of Marion Township Local Board Is Under Consideration

Members of the Marion Township Local School Board met with the Marion City Board of Education last night to discuss the possibility of the township being included in the city school district.

Discussion centered about a law recently passed by the Ohio Legislature providing that a district where there is no school may be dissolved and taken into another district.

Students living in Marion Township outside the city district have been attending Marion city schools on a tuition basis with transportation furnished by the township school board.

Justin N. Parsell, speaking for the township board, pointed out that transportation for about 25 students would have to be arranged when the district is taken in.

No definite action toward the merger was taken at the meeting.

The board also discussed plans for moving the school administration offices to the Greenwood School, which was abandoned this year as a result of the city school construction and re-districting program. Remodeling cost of the

Armed Robber Nets $78 From Service Station

Attendant Is Held Up At Gun Point; Link to Store Break-In Seen

An armed robber made off with $78 early this morning when he held up Kenneth Emmons, night attendant at the Bonded Oil Co. service station at 218 E. Center St.

Emmons was the only man on duty when the hold up took place about 12:30 a.m.

Emmons was working in the pit when the robber entered the station and chatted with him for about 15 minutes. When Emmons left the pit and entered the office, the robber pulled a gun and asked for the roll of bills the attendant was carrying in his pocket.

Scared Away

The thief then ran west on E. Center St. when a car with two women drove in the station.

Emmons described the robber as a Negro youth about 19 years old.

Police reported this morning they have a possible tie-in with the robbery. At 6 a.m. today they received a report of a break-in at the Fred F. Williams grocery at 530 Ballentine Ave.

Investigation revealed that a nickel-plated 38-caliber revolver, the same type used in the filling station hold-up, had been taken from the grocery along with about three cartons of cigarets and a small amount of candy.

Grocery Entered

Police Chief Thomas B. Coon said this morning he doubts if there is any connection between last night's break-in and armed robbery and the three break-ins reported last Friday night.

The break-in at the Williams grocery was reported by Chester

Freedoms Are Under Attack, Truman Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says a fear of communism is being manipulated by a few so as to cause nation-wide hysteria, thereby placing freedom of speech and thought under attack.

In an extemporaneous speech before the American Jewish congress last night, Truman said he feared the fight for freedom of speech and thought "is losing ground."

He added:

"Fear of communism is being manipulated by a few so as to cause a wave of hysteria in this country.

"Fear is a great silencer and people are being kept quiet for fear of being accused of sympathy with communism.

"When people become afraid to speak their beliefs or to defend the innocent or to explore new ideas, then freedom is really in danger."

He said he did not mean "we are about to lose these freedoms," but added "I will say that they are under attack."

Truman was awarded the AJC's 1952 Stephen Wise Award for his "consistent and courageous leadership in the cause of civil rights."

8 Killed, Many Injured

Violence Mars Balloting For Philippine Election

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines elected a president today in balloting scarred by local but deadly violence that left at least eight dead.

Decisive results are not expected for about three days.

First scattered and incomplete returns showed challenger Ramon Magsaysay leading President Elpidio Quirino by more than 2 to 1 and Philippine News Service said the trend looks like a "nationwide landslide" for Magsaysay.

However, the tally—Magsaysay 1,787, Quirino 741—was only a tiny fraction of the expected total and it did not include many sections where Quirino was considered strong.

The early reports showed Magsaysay strength in the central Philippines and the heavily populated cities as expected.

Although the Commission on Elections said voting generally was peaceful, Philippines News Service listed eight victims of gunfire and stabbing.

Five men and a youth were slain in volatile Cavite Province, four of them in one gun battle. One person was reported killed at Rosario in LaUnion Province and another was reported stabbed to death in a polling booth at San Carlos, Pangasinan Province.

The polls closed at 5 a.m. EST.

An estimated 5½ million Filipinos turned out in 28,072 precincts to choose a president, a vice president, 8 senators and 10 congressional seats.

In troublesome Cavite Province army units in armored cars patrolled the streets of Bacoor, less than 10 miles from Manila, after a gun battle that left the city's vice mayor, his two bodyguards

Elevator Falls 60 Feet, Hurts 16 in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Six of 16 persons in an elevator that plunged 60 feet to the basement of a downtown office building remained hospitalized today as investigation to learn the accident's cause continued.

While an evening rush hour crowd of more than 1,000 jammed around the Caxton Bldg. yesterday, police ambulances took the elevator passengers to four hospitals.

Ten of the persons hurt, including the elevator operator, were treated at hospitals and released. Of the six admitted, all had back or leg injuries or both, and one, Miss Minnie Lubnow, 50, was listed in serious condition.

Located near the rear of the main lobby, the elevator was used for hauling either freight or passengers.

City inspectors had examined it Thursday and some repairs had been ordered, Building Manager H. W. Slack said.

The elevator operator, Metro Kuhar, 62, said after starting down from a fifth-floor stop he 'heard a loud snapping and a whip-wire sound.'

George L. Meyers, chief city elevator inspector, said the "hoist" cables of the elevator were broken, but the "weight" cables which counterbalance the hoist lines were still intact.

Meyers said he was uncertain whether the cables snapped before the elevator fell or because of the impact when the car hit two large coil springs at the bottom of the shaft. These springs hurled the car upward again about 10 feet.

Mossadegh Tries To Bolt Trial After Fight With Counsel

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)— Screaming, sobbing ex - Premier Mohammed Mossadegh attempted to walk out of a court martial trying him for his life today after a wild fist-swinging scene climaxed his attempts to disavow his court - appointed lawyer.

The 73-year-old politician — accused of defying the shah, trying to overthrow the monarchy and illegally dissolving the Majlis (lower house of parliament)—shouted at his judges:

"Give an order to cut off my head, but I must defend myself."

It was the third straight day of emotional fireworks staged by Mossadegh, virtual dictator of Iran before his overthrow last August by royalist supporters. He told the tribunal yesterday he would commit suicide if released and would not appeal if convicted.

Boon to Film Industry

White Grape, Olive Oil and Spaghetti Diet Produces Beauty Queens in Italy

By RUTH LANGDON

ROME, (NANA)—Beautiful girls are fast becoming one of Italy's most valuable commodities. Lush, olive-skinned beauties literally clutter up Rome's fashionable Via Veneto, where portly businessmen sit at the open-air cafes, sipping "Cappuccine's" (coffee with beaten cream) and struggle to keep their eyes from bulging as the shapely creatures swish by.

Benefitting most heavily from this happy state of affairs are Rome's 60 film companies. A casual stroll through Rome is often the only effort an Italian film producer has to make to find his leading lady.

That the Roman film industry is thriving as a result was revealed in recent statistics showing that Italian filmgoers now number 780,000,000 as opposed to 579,400,000 in 1948. Though the industry has no exact figures from Hollywood, it is believed that Rome has surpassed Hollywood as a production center. In the first seven months of 1953, more than 100 full-length features were produced, 32 of which were in color and two in three dimension.

HOW AND WHY Italy has this ever-expanding crop of lovely women is a mystery widely discussed in the European press. An English journalist recently suggested that Mussolini's youth health program was responsible. This theory breaks down when one considers that the male populace offers nothing very startling in the way of beauty (lantern-jawed Raf Vallone is a lone and much overworked film Romeo).

Italians have their own theories as to the cause. A Roman coiffeur told me he thought uncooked olive oil was the secret. "Raw olive oil poured over a salad," he said, "is nourishing and not fattening. It is good for the skin and makes hair lustrous. When cooked, olive oil loses all its goodness and merely makes a woman plump. Our beauty-conscious women know this well."

A cosmetic saleswoman in the Piazza Di Spagna attributes the fantastic chest dimensions of her countrywomen to the high consumption of white grapes. "You ask Gina Lollobrigida," she said. "I'm sure white grapes are her favorite fruit. After all, grapes are as cheap as peanuts in Italy and it is not unusual for our women to eat two pounds of them a day. It's a pity some flat-chested women don't know about this." Whatever the reason for Lollobrigida's eye-filling shape, it is amusing to note that Parisians now refer to that part of a woman's anatomy as "les lolles."

ITALIAN FILM queens themselves seem to pin their faith in the national "Pasta" (the general term for all types of macaroni). Unlike their Hollywood counterparts who appear content to subsist on a boiled egg and half a grapefruit, they consume copious platters of various types of "Pasta" with no apparent ill effects.

Gina Lollobrigida was appalled to find that she had gained a few pounds when in Hollywood several years ago. "Take me back to Rome and my 'Pasta' before I lose my figure completely," she said.

When asked why she was so homesick while in Paris last winter, sultry Silvana Mangano replied "For one thing, I'd love a really good plate of spaghetti."

Silvana Pampanini, a Latin Betty Grable with a terrific box office draw, confided recently over Italy's National Broadcasting Company that she could cook (and eat) a mean ravioli made of chopped spinach and rich cream cheese.

Whatever the reason for the wealth of feminine good looks, it is obvious that Hollywood producers are also profiting from it. Just this week, Joseph Mankiewicz, after traipsing from Mexico and California to New York and London interviewing professional actresses, beautiful girls with no acting experience, and dancers, has ended up in Rome on the last lap of his global search for the star of "The Barefoot Contessa" with Humphrey Bogart as the male lead. He is almost sure he will find the "Contessa" here. Confident Italians don't doubt it for a minute, believing as they do that the crop of Venuses is as inexhaustible as the grapes, olive oil and "Pasta" of their land.

INCIDENTALLY, Italian filmgoers were shocked to discover this week that their idols, Silvana Pampanini and Gina Lollobrigida, have emulated a 'vulgar" Hollywood practice and insured their bodies for 30,000,000 lire ($48,000) with Lloyd's of London.

The Italian press has pointed out a shade defensively that these insurance policies are modest in comparison with some taken out by Hollywood actresses along similar lines.

The policies of the two Italian actresses cover "special risks"—especially to those parts of the body cited as being the most valuable—their legs and bosoms.

Move To Embarrass West

Soviet Hand Seen in Gold Market as Price Tumbles

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)— The price of gold has been falling on the world market. And, as with so many things, the Russians are suspected of being back of it.

The price of a gold bar in the so-called free markets has slipped nearly 30 per cent since March 1952. Last week it brought only a fraction of a dollar more than the official price set by the U. S. Treasury—$35.50 an ounce.

After World War II the price of gold on some black markets went as high as $60 an ounce.

Reports persist Russia has been selling some of her large hoard of gold, thus weakening its price by increasing its supply in free or black markets.

Bankers believe Russia has been selling gold for the currencies of other nations where she wants to buy consumer goods to keep her restless people quiet.

While Russia keeps mum about her gold production and stockpile she is believed to have one of the largest hoards of any government.

What Russia wants from the West is shown in the report today from Paris that the Soviets have ordered 100,000 tons of steel products, mostly sheet steel, from French mills. The French say the steel isn't considered strategic material, since they believe it is to be used for civilian goods.

The Bank of England is in the market to buy gold when it can as it wants to build up the reserves, back of its currency. Russia on the other hand can use the pound sterling to buy commodities in the British Commonwealth to make consumer goods for its people.

If the price of gold falls a little more, the Bank of France may be [illegible] authorized to buy it, according to reports from Paris.

The U. S. Treasury has been selling gold from time to time to friendly nations. Its gold hoard now stands at a little more than 22 billion dollars, down almost 1½ billion dollars worth of this gold can stand the U. S. Treasury in curious tead right now as it squirms under the legal ceiling of 275 billion dollars on the federal debt.

Police in Baltimore Quiz 2 on Death Of Ohio Sergeant

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police today questioned two teen-age brothers in the mysterious death of an Army sergeant from Ohio

One of the Negro youths is 15, the other 16

Police once closed their books on the case of Edward J Armstrong 24 of Warren Ohio Two days after being discharged from Fort Meade and drawing $441 separation pay he was found unconscious on a sidewalk Oct 4

Police said the man was picked up first on the assumption he was drunk Four hours later, in a cell, he went into convulsions and died the next afternoon at a hospital An autopsy attributed death to a skull fracture and it was presumed he had fallen and struck his head

Police reopened the investigation Oct 15 after it was determined one of three money orders he had had be n c shed

Police said in the room of one of the boys picked up officers found two keys to a luggage locker in which the victim had put some belongings

Hand-Holding With White House Finished

Politicians Set To Take Over After GOP Setbacks

By EDWARD NELLOR

WASHINGTON (NANA) — Ranking Republicans in Congress will start laying it on the line politically at the White House, in the wake of the recent stunning election shellacking. The President will be forced into naming a top political adviser, forced to listen to him and to follow through with the political necessities of life. Such political figures as Senator Dirksen, of Illinois, Mundt of South Dakota, McCarthy of Wisconsin, Millikin of Colorado and Aiken of Vermont consider the election defeat the end of the hand-holding era with the White House. One will emerge as Republican spokesman, with or without the approval of the president. In other words, the politicians with experience will reclaim the GOP from the businessman's administration. There will be less waiting around for White House action, less attention paid to White House advisers. Republicans have a program of considerable accomplishment to sell, now realize it is up to the politicians, not the Cabinet and White House advisers, to sell it.

Love's Labor Lost

Congress, due back in town in January, will make fast work of the President's legislative program. Most members will shoot for an early adjournment to, allow themselves plenty of time for campaigning. Many of Mr. Eisenhower's pet proposals, to be submitted to Congress in the form of commission reports and studies, will be sidetracked in the rush. Dozens of special committees and commissions are due to report their findings to the white House in January on dozens of subjects national in scope. Few will get more than polite attention. Exception: The agricultural advisory commission. The debate on this will be long and loud.

Buildup

Franklin L. Orth, special assistant to the Secretary of the Army, will run the Pentagon's buildup of reserve forces. Talk of trimming U. S. troop units abroad and generally cutting armed forces costs has added emphasis to the need for stronger military reserve forces. The war in Korea depleted reserve units. A total of 370,000 men and officers were called to active duty from 2,650 company-sized units. A major recruitment campaign will be undertaken. Congress will be sold on the need for more cash for reserves, less for regular units. An expanded reserve program also fits in with planning for an expanded warning system at home against surprise attacks. An enlarged reserve will cost millions, but far less than full-time soldiers. If successful a regenerated reserve force may eliminate the need for costly Civilian Defense Administration that is now bogged down by public apathy.

Apply Elsewhere

The Eisenhower administration netted another big but unexpected saving of taxpayer cash when it started to trim thousands from the federal payroll. Heretofore most of the nation's postoffices conducted Civil Service tests for prospective federal employes. New hiring is practically at a standstill, now. Employes in 8,000 postoffices assigned to the Civil Service tests were twiddling their thumbs.

A new Civil Service order reduces the number of postoffices where tests can be held from 8,000 to 1,100, frees hundreds of workers, will save millions over the years in salaries, red tape costs and the price of office space used to quiz the job applicants.

Hands Across the Sea

Foreign operations Administration Director Harold Stassen won a war of words with the Department of Agriculture over the type of label to be placed on the 5,000,000 Christmas food packages to be sent overseas as gifts from the American people. Stassen insisted that the FOA label, clasped hands over a U.S. Flag seal, be stamped on all the Yuletide boxes; Department of Agriculture officials thought the U.S.A. stamp sufficient. After considerable wangling, Stassen won the argument, although the Department of Agriculture will do most of the buying and packaging for the Christmas food gift scheme. Agriculture officials consider FOA an upstart organization, doomed for a short and mediesome life. They are probably right.

"Whammo"

We haven't any more money, shortened to "whammo" is the newest word in official bureaucratic lingo in Washington. Frederick B. Lee, administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Board, coined it in apologizing to a National Association of State Aviation Officials conference, explaining why airport construction in states will have to be done without federal funds. Civil aeronautics funds for airport construction are frozen, will remain that way if the President has his way.

Share the Air

Canada and the U.S. have revised a joint television agreement, allotting TV channels on a 50-50 basis within 250 miles of the border in either country. Both nations agreed to notify the other when a station is to be constructed in the area. Without the pact, adjoining stations would clutter up the border air reserved for TV wave lengths, reception would be impossible for viewers in either country.

Hall In A Hurry

Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, won't be troubled by worried politicians looking for an election scapegoat. He can't be blamed for the GOP defeat. His national committee did all it could with time and money under the handicap of presidential indifference and the scarcity of congressional speakers who couldn't find the time to take the stump in doubtful areas. Hall is leaving Washington, but not to get away from the political heat. He is making a scouting trip of the West Coast states, will try to squeeze in a one-way vacation in Los Angeles.

Humphrey Next

Republican sharpshooters are lining up political trouble for Minnesota's voluble senator, Herbert Humphrey. The senator is getting too big for his political britches, according to Republicans, who believe he can be licked in 1954 if the political medicine is handled properly. Along with Americans for Democratic Action, Humphrey is credited with much of the brainwork that has bedeviled Republicans during the past year. He has been working behind the scenes, but by January is expected to be in good voice, and anxious to take the Senate floor to sharpshoot at Republican plans.

Youth Arrested After Auto Hits Crossing Gate

State patrolmen from the Marion post today reported the arrest of a youth allegedly involved in an accident Sunday at the Erie Railroad tracks at the intersection of Route 98.

Richarad L. Ramsey, 18, of 375 N. State St. was given a citation to appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer a charge of driving to the left of the center line.

The car he was driving was owned by Vernon Hawkins of the same address, patrolmen said. The car struck the crossing gate at the tracks, ripping down both the gate and the concrete foundation. Patrolmen traced the owner through the license plates on the car, which was left abandoned at the scene of the accident.

Patrol officials indicate no charges of leaving the scene of the accident will be filed inasmuch as only one car was involved.

Other arrests, the charge, and disposition follow:

Robert A. Mount, 26, of Richwood, no mud flaps, cited to appear in Municipal Court Friday; Nick S. Sidoti, 31, of Buffalo, N.Y., excessive speed, fined $20 and costs, by Mayor M. F. Pinney of Delaware; Meyer B. Rosen, 55 of Shaker Heights, excessive speed, $20 and costs, Justice of the Peace R. R. Bennington of Mt. Gilead; David G. Dibb Jr., 26, of Louisville, Ky., excessive speed, $15 and costs Mayor Don Healea of Cardington.

Steelworkers' District Head Is Found Dead

CLEVELAND (AP)—The death of William F. Donovan, 57, district director for 45,000 CIO United Steelworkers, was termed suicide by police today.

Donovan, head of District 28 since 1939 and for many years a union official, hanged himself in the basement of his suburban Lakewood home yesterday afternoon, Capt. David E. Kerr of the Homicide Bureau said.

The union leader had been under a physician's care since suffering a nervous breakdown last August, Kerr reported.

He said Donovan left a note to his wife saying "I can't stand the roaring in my head or in my nerves any longer. It asked that she say goodbye to a priest and to David J. McDonald, president of the steelworkers.

Donovan's district of 71 union locals includes Cleveland, Lorain, Medina, Akron, Barberton, Elyria and Amherst. He became assistant director of the district in 1936 when the campaign to organize steel began.

He was a former president of the Cleveland Industrial Union Council and served as a member of his union's International Executive Board.

Word of Donovan's death brought tributes to him from Gov. Frank J. Lausche, U. S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke and E. J. McGee, director of industrial relations for Republic Steel Corp.

Upper Officers Slate Armistice Observance

UPPER SANDUSKY — Upper Sandusky will join in the observance of Armistice Day Wednesday.

The post office will be closed with no rural nor city delivery of mail and all windows at the office closed. All county offices at the courthouse, the selective service and Aid for Aged offices will also be closed.

Both local banks will close for the day and the schools of the Wyandot County system will not be in session. Local schools will present a program but will dismiss at 3 p.m.

Most business places will remain open as usual.

WOMAN IN CABINET

CLEVELAND (AP) — The first woman in the mayor's cabinet here in two decades is Miss Bell Greve whom Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze last night appointed city welfare director.

Serve Orange Pork Steak at Company Dinner

With pork in plentiful supply it's smart to plan your menus around pork cuts these days. Pork shoulder steaks always are a good choice for dinner. They're juicy, rich flavored and one of the thrifter buys. A dish with all the flavor of a chef's special creation, it's delicious cooked in orange juice and seasoned with herbs. For company dinner, serve them with sweet potatoes and marshmallows baked in orange shells.

Orange Pork Steaks

4 pork shoulder steaks
1 cup orange juice
½ cup water
½ teaspoon thyme
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
salt, pepper

Trim pieces of fat from the steaks for browning meat. Melt these down and remove fried out pieces. Flour steaks and brown in fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Combine orange juice and water. Over and around steaks pour ½ cup of the liquid. Add thyme and sprinkle onion over steaks. Cover skillet tightly and turn heat low so that liquid bubbles slowly. Cook about 45 minutes or until pork steaks are very tender. Add more of the diluted orange juice as needed.

Orange Cups with Sweet Potatoes

Save orange skins left from squeezing oranges. Flute around edge if desired. Fill with whipped sweet potatoes which have been moistened with melted butter or margarine and seasoned with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Push a marshmallow down into the potatoes, place shells in shallow pan and bake in a 375 degree F. oven about 20 minutes or until marshmallows are delicately brown and potatoes are heated through.

SEEK REINSTATEMENT

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three state liquor inspectors who were fired because of charges on which they were later acquitted continue their plea for reinstatement before the Ohio Civil Service Commission today. They are Stanley Bonnes, 26, Independence; Rolland Tague, 34, New Lexington, and Stanley Delhart, 37, Cleveland. In July the Franklin County criminal court found them innocent of soliciting and accepting a $150 bribe for overlooking violations of a Columbus tavern.

FBI Has No Voice of Its Own

The politics in Attorney General Brownell's revelation that the late Harry Dexter White was placed in a key post after the FBI had given him a bad bill of health is one thing.

The problem of government is another thing. We are more interested in that than in the politics of the matter.

The FBI collects information for the federal government. Though it is part of the Department of Justice, it serves all other deartments.

But its findings are confidential. They cannot be brought to light without executive permission. It has not voice of its own.

This has neutralized the FBI's efforts in many instances. There have been too many people interested in hiding what the FBI has discovered.

It has been hobbled by persons who wanted to hush up such matters as the Harry Dexter White case. It has been forced to file and forget information which would have put the spotlight on subversive influences in government and labor unions. It has been made to shrug its shoulders philosophically because material in its secret files was kept hidden by public officials with other fish to fry.

We have admired the FBI's operation under J. Edgar Hoover. He is an ideal public servant. The White incident, now being raked over for political purposes, is a reminder that Hoover's bureau can be only as useful as politicans want it to be.

That is a problem of government.

The Impossible Takes Longer

As the time comes again to remember what men believed on Nov. 11 1918, the first Armistice Day, new thoughts intrude on old ones.

"The war to end wars" was not successful.

What other men believed to be true about World War I was not necessarily what Americans, who then were novices in world affairs, believed to be true.

The defeat of the Central Powers was not the "dawn of a new day." It was only one more incident in the competition between nations and coalitions of nations for the privilege of dominating the weak.

So much for disillusionment. There has been no lack of it since 1918. It has been a fad—an easy refuge for those who find solace in the imperfection of their fellow men.

Armistice Day itself, has been turned into an occasion for sadness and disillusionment, though it started as an occasion for jubilation.

But there is a thought to relieve the sadness and disillusionment on the 35th Armistice Day—that Americans have never quit trying to do what they thought they had done in 1918.

It is like that slogan used in war production during World War II—That the difficult can be done immediately but the impossible takes a little longer.

The war to end wars has turned into the wars to end war — but the goal is still intact. It is going to take a little longer to reach it, that's the difference.

Justice for All

If anyone still doubts the fairness of the United States judiciary system and its guarantee of an honest trial for even criminals, all he has to do is look at one of Canton's prize cases.

For the fourth time Russell Muskus, twice-convicted slayer, has been saved from execution while his case is carried on in the courts.

Convicted and sentenced to death for the hotel-room slaying of George J. LeMasters of New Philadelphia, he was granted a stay while the Supreme Court studied his appeal. When a new trial was ordered, he escaped execution a second time.

Again he was convicted and sentenced to die in the electric chair. Another stay enabled him to escape again while the Ohio Supreme Court reviewed his appeal. Confirming the case, a fourth execution date was set. Now he again has been given a stay of execution so the United States Supreme Court can review the case. A fifth date for execution, Dec. 18, has been scheduled.

He has lived off the taxpayers for about four years, residing in various jails and the penitentiary. It is costing money, but the wheels of justice are rolling fairly and no one can deny that this man has had every chance.

Gone With the Keg

For a long time now, the dog has been regarded as man's best friend. We hope it will continue.

But it took a setback with the announcement that the St. Bernard dog had given way to modern technical equipment when it comes to searching the Alps for lost persons.

We've always regarded the friendly St. Bernard with the small cask about his neck as a symbol of dogdom's devotion to man. We'll survive the change and hope the St. Bernard will, but it'll take quite a while to conjure up a new symbol.

Word from Switzerland tells us that it's taken quite a lot to replace the canine. The list includes helicopters, ski-equipped aircraft trained rescue personnel including parachutists, rescue depots, ambulances and an occasional German Shepherd dog.

Sensation Unrecognized

By David Lawrence

Espionage Report Awaited Discovery Since 1945

Former President Truman should not have been surprised when he read that Attorney General Brownell accused him of sending to the Senate the nomination of Harry Dexter White, for a high government post, even though the Democratic administration knew that reliable witnesses had said that White was a "Russian spy."

The famous FBI memorandum, which not only accused White and Hiss of being a part of the Soviet spy ring in America, but named a number of others inside our government, was dated November 25, 1945.

It was followed by another memorandum on February 4, 1946, two days before the Senate confirmed White, then an assistant secretary of the Treasury, to be U.S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund. The information was never sent by the Truman administration to the Senate Banking Currency Committee which handled the nomination.

What is astonishing, however, is that Mr. Truman claims now to have "fired" White as soon as disloyalty was discovered.

BROWNELL points out, when White resigned as assistant secretary of the Treasury on April 30, 1946, Mr. Truman sent him a laudatory letter of regret, and said "I am confident that in your new position (U.S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund) you will add distinction to your already distinguished career."

White did not resign his subsequent post on the Monetary Fund on account of any formal accusations before any loyalty board because there were none. Nor was he fired. He died without action being taken on the FBI report by the Truman administration.

Although Harry White is dead, two of his principal assistants, who are accused of playing an important part in the Soviet espionage ring, are alive and have already been questioned by the Senate Internal Security Committee.

Both refused recently to answer questions on the ground of possible self-incrimination, claiming the privilege of the 5th amendment.

One of them even refused to tell the Senate Committee the list of his assignments — the jobs he held in the executive branch of the government both here and abroad.

ONE OF THESE jobs was that of advisor to the secretary of state George Marshall, in the spring of 1947 at the Conference of Foreign Ministers in Moscow.

The list of influential posts held by the two assistants to Harry White is a long one, and it is obvious that White and his assistants had access to confidential information, not only in their own bureaus, but in other parts of the American government.

The first FBI memorandum of which Attorney General Brownell speaks was made available to the press on August 24 last by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee but its text has never been published in most of the newspapers of the country.

One reason is that the press associations missed the point of the story when it was first released.

There seems no justification for the press associations afterward to carry the sensational facts in the Senate Committee report when attention was publicly called almost immediately afterward, to the significance of the FBI memorandum.

SOME NEWSPAPERS did reprint it subsequently in their Sunday sections and some published it serially, but in most communities the Senate report still has never seen the light of day.

It would seem that Mr. Truman would have become aware of the importance of this FBI memorandum as early as 1945 when, as the Senate Subcommittee says, it was distributed to him and key officials of the government.

If he didn't himself see it then, he might well have asked for a copy of the FBI memorandum when representative Richard Nixon of California, then a member of the House Un-American Activites Committee, made a speech in the House in 1950, quoting one important paragraph from the FBI memorandum which he said then was in Mr. Truman's hands.

Many people do not know that the FBI cannot prosecute anybody unless higher authority in the executive branch of the government says so.

MANY PEOPLE do not know also, that an earlier FBI memorandum on Alger Hiss was in the hands of the executive officials of the Democratic administration for many years before the FBI memoranda of 1945 and 1946 were submitted. Yet it was in 1948, when a House Committee exposed Alger Hiss, that Mr. Truman called it "a red herring."

This ought to dispose of the argument that "It can all be left to the FBI."

There seems to be a concerted campaign afoot today to discredit the work of congressional investigating committees and also there is a crusade in some of the so-called "liberal" and "left-wing" publications to defend those who refuse to testify in answer to questions by congressional committees which ask if witnesses are now or have been engaged in espionage.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Brownell's revealing speech may wake up the country to the insidious efforts of some "liberals" to smother the inquiries into Communist infiltration in our government.

It also may bring about the publication in more communities in the land, where it has not appeared as yet, the full text of the security committee's report of last August which gives chapter and verse on the Communist conspiracy inside the government of the United States, not only in the executive departments, but inside Congress as well.

It is by far the most sensational document every published at the U.S. Government Printing Office in Washington, and sells for 20 cents a copy.

Anybody who has read that report will wonder why it required a speech by Attorney General Brownell to direct the attention of the country to these same facts about the Communist conspiracy in our government.

Eisenhower Fails To Grasp Realities

By Raymond Moley

Whoever among the friends and advisers of the President approves and compliments him on what he said in his press conference on the day after the elections will be doing him a tragic disservice.

If the state of mind that is revealed there is to be projected into the next year, the results a year from now will indeed be catastrophic — for him and his party.

It is well for him to claim a limited ignorance of local situations.

No human being could learn all the local problems that affect elections and at the same time carry the burden of the presidency. But there were big situations that affected the results in New York and New Jersey, and the head of his party cannot afford to ignore them.

WHAT HAS BEEN happening there has been the exposure, first by the Kefauver Committee and later by the New York State Crime Commission, of the existence of a black cloud of labor racketeering and corrupt connections between crime and politics.

The center of this is the port of New York, and it has spread to the west into New Jersey, north into Westchester, and beyond and east into Long Island.

It involves various businesses where lavish money is involved, such as shipping, race tracks, building, etc.

Tammany, as always, is in the picture, but years and years of such associations have made that an old story.

What has really shocked people is the fact that this cloud has reached high Republican officialdom.

THE FAY CASE is an example. The Adonis case reached even into the Trenton State House.

The acting lieutenant governor of New York has been told to resign by Governor Dewey, but the people who held race-track stock while they were charged by law with policing race tracks have received no public rebuke from the governor.

All this fell like a tidal wave of cold water on the campaigns in New York City and New Jersey. Many, many thousands, disgusted with both parties, simply stayed at home in New York City and in the 6th Congressional district of New Jersey.

The President knew enough about New York City, which after all is his voting place, to endorse Riegelman, the really able and clean Republican candidate for mayor.

BUT RIEGELMAN and everybody else running on the Republican ticket could hardly meet the shock of what had happened to the party in the state. I imagine that is what happened in New Jersey, too.

It is not encouraging to the President's loyal supporters over the country and in Congress for him to refer to himself as a novice in politics.

It is, of course always refreshing to find humility in a public man, especially in a president, but the comment about a "novice" was attached to a statement that he never claimed to be a politician.

He should be reminded that a lot of politicians are fine people and that thousands of them fought hard for him.

There is nothing bad about being a politician. In fact, from the moment he agreed to run, the President has been a politician.

IT ALSO ought to be added that he has been in the business long enough to move out of the novitiate.

The most disturbing statement of all was that Eisenhower felt that the Republican party could succeed only if it won over a lot of Democrats and independents. If this means that his course of action and his program must resemble the course and program of the administration that preceded him, he will awake to a saddened dawn.

The people who really elected him were not Democrats. The Democrats voted for Stevenson.

The Eisenhower majority came from people who refused to vote at all in 1948 because they felt that Dewey and Warren offered nothing better than Truman.

Those people will stay at home again unless they are offered something more than this administration has shown in its ten months in office.

We Need More Faith

By MARK DANA

It is inevitable that the whole Armistice Day anniversary period should cause thoughtful people to ponder the grimly real difference in American atmosphere now and in 1918.

There is no end of oratory this week to remind that 35 years ago the war to end all wars was over, and America — which had never been militaristic — settled back into a familiar and serene routine. That itself quickly ended.

Almost ever since then, what with depressions and big strikes and of course further wars we have been in a brand new if not a brave new world, which certainly has few aspects familiar to the time of that first Armistice Day.

Even persons of philosophical bent find it difficult to perceive anything immediately ahead save more factors which cause wars. We have ample justification for gloom, for hopelessness.

And yet that attitude is the easy refuge of the spiritually destitute. Pessimism is a trait of weakness; it feeds on itself, growing more weighty as long as encouraged.

Also a permitted feeling of dreariness makes dreary things happen. If we expect only trouble ahead, trouble surely will come.

Our country and our people have far more to be thankful for, in this Armistice Day period with Thanksgiving near at hand, than we had last year or any prior year. Our net assets still rise. Our net worth as a people and nation provides a larger balance in our annual inventory in this season when we try to measure conditions against November in 1918.

We do not need to fabricate or fake hope or optimism: the evidence is all around. The world of nations still quarrels, but tribes started quarreling at the dawn of history. They had then no atomic bombs but neither did they have thousands of things which add to our enjoyments and our powers as people. Our elation 35 years ago this time was a bit hysterical and unrealistic. Our present moods of despair probably are, also.

With Adjoining Stable

By TRUMAN TWILL

The tourist court came into its own during the years when I was not taking to the open road at vacation time.

This year's vacation, part of which was spent in extemporaneous touring toward, through and away from the Great Smokies, was a chance to get acquainted with this logical outgrowth of the automobile age.

The logic is the same as that which gave travelers in ancient times the roadside hostel with adjoining stable. Being wholly dependent on their means of transportation, the travelers wanted to keep them nearby and to know they were safe and immediately obtainable if they needed them.

The tourist court is as logical as the great railroad hotels which came into being with the growth of rail transportation, or modern-day commercial hotels patronized by travelers to whom central locations are important.

It was as inevitable as water running downhill that American enterprise would do something about the opportunity presented by millions of motorists needing handy places to stay overnight.

But what had begun with the "cabins" which were popping up when I did my last previous vacation motoring now has gone far beyond anything I had dreamed of.

Luxury apartments for transient motorists are strung along the main highways like neonized jewels in an endless necklace.

The price range is as wide as the range of accommodations offered. There are tourist courts to fit every taste and pocketbook. I shall remember the lady who insisted on examining each vacant unit in a 16 unit motel in search of the one whose decor caught her fancy.

In this particular motel each unit offered a mirrored wall with a massive dressing table and writing desk combined, all-steel furniture finished in pastel shades, carpeting to match, a luggage room and closet and a full-size bathroom with both tub and shower. Television was optional. In another court, the interior decoration was carried out in a rustic-wicker motif. Steam heat and circulating air, with summertime air-conditioning were common. One court even offered clock radios.

Builders of motels have taken advantage of the latest ideas in building materials. They also have taken advantage of their characteristic one-story design. Most of the newer projects are U-shaped, with a long verandah fronting on the "courtyard." They build out, not up.

A well-known court in the Lexington, Ky., region offers stainless-steel ice containers at frequent intervals on the verandahs of a 108-unit court.

This points up precisely the psychological appeal of the tourist court. Americans like to wait on themselves. They resent flunkies. The tourist court and the supermarket reflect a national credo of self-reliance.

Hard-heads say the motel business is over-expanding. The hard-heads always are sure everything is over-expanding. If anyone had taken them seriously, the United States couldn't have been here in first place.

Tourist courts with their Neon candles burning in the window to welcome weary travelers made my return to the highways at vacation time so pleasurable it will be done again next year, if next year comes.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

August 15, 1820 the first tracts of land in the county north of the Greenville Treaty line were offered for sale. From that time on a steady stream of immigrants flowed into every part of Marion County. They came from the older counties to the south, from Kentucky and Virginia, from the New England states and New York. From far off Maine came the founder of Marion County, Eber Baker. Generally the northeastern part of Ohio was settled by the Yankees, the southeast by the Massachusetts soldiers of the Revolution; the Virginia Military Lands of the Scioto and Miami Valleys by the artistocracy of Virginia and the northwestern part by the Germans. Marion County, because of location and the ripeness of time, drew the best from every quarter of the state and nation.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Drivers' Clinic

It is announced that a free clinic has been set up in New York to help auto drivers determine their driving faults. They are invited to come in and have their failings as motorists diagnosed.

This will get nowhere. Did you ever hear of an automobile operator who admitted he had any faults? Especially the type that need clinical attention?

The Greater New York Safety Council sponsors this idea and it must be made up of 100 per cent optimists. We wish the council well but predict that its clinic is going to be a wonderful place to be alone.

Newspapers should follow the experiment keenly. The first public appearance of an auto driver who wishes to acknowledge he has a few limitations and is receptive to criticism and advice should make the most sensational story in recent years.

The fellow will probably get offers from a circus.

Fancy the scene. The clinic is in session, but has had only two callers all day. One was a man who had the wrong street number, the other was a brush salesman.

Finally a man enters and really establishes himself as an autoist. He admits he is worried over HIS OWN BEHAVIOR AT THE WHEEL.

A member of the Safety Council who had made a $50 bet that the clinic would never have a customer tries to state him down, but the autoist is obdurate.

"I have driving faults, he declares. "They annoy ME."

"Would you mind repeating that sentence?" a clinic specialists asks.

"I have driving faults, " the man repeats. "They annoy ME."

A buzzer is pressed and three guards rush in to seize and bind the applicant. (There is naturally a fear he will escape and turn out to be the only specimen in existence.)

"Shall we give him the balloon test?" asks one attendant.

"Why? He isn't drunk," says another.

"He MUST be," is the reply.

The motorist proves he is sober. This makes it all the more startling. "Proceed! Tell us your faults as an auto driver," an attendant asks, still a little weak from surprise.

"I have a tendency to go through red lights," he says. "Yellow doesn't mean a thing to me, either."

"How long have you been doing this?" he is asked.

"I dunno. How long have there been red and yellow lights?" he replies. "I also toot my horn if the car ahead of me hesitates more than ten seconds. I didn't mind this at first but it has begun to wear out my horn. Does this clinic sell larger-sized horns?"

"Go on," says the attendant. "What other bad habits have you?"

"I love to beat others in to the space between parking meters," the man said.

"I never slow down going through school zones. I don't know whether it's blood pressure or dry scalp. I also disregard speed signs, pay no attention to white lines, park four feet from the curb, never have my brakes fixed and am quite profane in traffic. I think I inherit it on my Aunt Minnie's side.

"It could be due to the fact I am not getting enough vitamins. Please, please help me! I just can't go on being such a heel at the wheel. What will people think?"

But the World's Rarest Autoist stopped abruptly. For nobody was listening. The entire clinic had passed out cold.

Under the New York settlement, a milk-wagon driver can make as much as $118 a week with a three-week vacation on pay and many benefits . . . The cow must feel relatively unimportant these days.

One hundred and five cafeterias were closed by a Gotham strike.

The retort of the bosses to demands for more money might well have been: "Do you think money grows on TRAYS?"

Mary Edna Cook And Henry Wenig Wed in Columbus

The wedding of Miss Mary Edna Cook, daughter of Mrs. Leonard M. Lewis of Columbus, and Henry C. Wenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton H. Wenig of New Bloomington, took place Sunday, in Ilonkas Provincial House, Columbus. The ceremony was read at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. O W. Robbins, pastor of the Methodist Church at Meeker. Decorations on the altar were pompons, gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Leonard M. Lewis, the bride wore a dress of Italian lace and nylon tulle. The lace bodice had a Queen Ann collar and long sleeves, and a lace panel extended down the back of the bouffant skirt and train. A crown of seed pearls and rhinestone held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of Snow White roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Julia Ann Smith, wore a princess style gown of turquoise blue silk taffeta and a matching lace jacket. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of Better Times roses.

George Wenig of New Bloomington was best man for his brother and ushers were Ralph Wenig, also a brother, and Carl James Cook, brother of the bride.

A reception in the Provincial House followed the ceremony. Hostesses were Miss Donna DeVillers, Miss Peggy Shafer, Miss Mary Catherine Finneran and Miss Robert Smith. When the couple left on a wedding trip through the East the bride was wearing a navy blue suit, matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses centered with a white carnation. After Nov. 15 the couple will make their home on the Walters Rd., Marion.

The bride attended Notre Dame High School in St. Louis, Mo., and was graduated from Holy Family High School in Columbus. She has been employed by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. The bridegroom is a graduate of Meeker High School and Ohio State University, college of agricultural engineering.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H Schmidt, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. August Gropp, Mr and Mrs. Robert Gropp and daughters, Mrs Frank Cramer and Miss Edna Schmidt of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Anna Wenig of Bowling Green, grandmother of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Christian and family of Toledo. Other guests were from Columbus and Marion.

Insect May Be Remedy For Citrus Tree Scale

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UP) — Jack Sprat could eat no fat and his wife could eat no lean.

This jingle describes perfectly the problem of entomologists at the University of California who are trying to raise an imported insect to control red scale in California citrus orchards.

Females of a tiny parasite from China are very fond of red scale, the number one citrus pest in California. But males of the species refuse to follow the same diet.

Until the Riverside entomologists can find what the males do like, there will be no families of Casca Chinensis in California.

Julie, the Elephant, Set For Crack at Big Time

SALT LAKE CITY (UP) — Julie, like many other females is show-struck.

Each day for the past four years, she's been practicing, and waiting for the big chance.

Over and over again, she performs her only trick—standing as circus elephants do with forefeet on upended tubs. But Julie does it the hard way—without a tub.

So far, there have been no offers. Just plenty of standing.

But if a talent scout ever comes to Hogle Zoo, Julie's all prepared. She has her trunk packed.

Buoyant Swim Trunks Big Help for Invalids

NEW YORK (UP) — Swimming trunks with built-in buoyant pads will be extremely valuable in rehabilitating victims of paralysis, according to Mark Shaw, the Briton who introduced "non-sinkable" swim suits in this country.

"It means that a hospital could put a dozen or so patients in the water with just one person to watch them," Shaw said He added that he had conducted wide tests on veterans, including a 205-pound veteran "completely paralyzed from the waist down," and found that the padded trunks were buoyant enough to keep him afloat.

So far only women's and children's suits are being made in this country with the buoyant pads, though men's trunks are made both in Britain and Canada.

Veterans' Hospitals Voted Money Gifts By Legion Women

A gift of money to each veteran's hospital in the state for use in a Christmas fund was voted at a meeting of the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, Monday night in the Legion Dugout Mrs Anabel Smith, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Miss Opal McMahon, Americanism chairman, announced that three American flags will be presented to the Mark Street School. The auxiliary also voted to purchase four flags for the Vernon Heights School. Formal presentation of the flags will be made in the near future.

It was announced an effort is being made to reach full membership by Armistice Day, the date set for reaching the goal.

Plans were completed for cooperating with the post in keeping open house Wednesday at the Legion Dugout. The dugout will be open at 11 a.m. with lunch served by the auxiliary. Mrs Marie Malloy will be chairman of the committee during the day and the chairman for the evening is Mrs. Ann Hull.

Announcement was made of the state mid-winter conference to be held Feb. 27, at the Neil House in Columbus. Mrs. Harold Burdett, national president will be the guest speaker.

Games and refreshments were in the clubroom Prizes were won by Mrs. Minnie Bowen, Mrs Geneva Dripps, Miss Marie Baker and Mrs Elta Trickey.

Pittsburgh Airport Sets Special Church Service

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP) — The Greater Pittsburgh Airport will be one of the first in the country to offer Sunday church services for travelers and employes.

Allegheny County commissioners approved plans of the Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh to hold masses on Sundays and Holy Days in the airport theater.

Plans also were being studied for establishment of a permanent Catholic chapel in the huge terminal building.

Professional Touch Easy

Teen-Agers Can Make, Trim Holiday Dresses

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

When the goal posts are torn down after the last football game of the season, the cheerleader chick becomes a dream doll for the big party.

She'll score a real glamor goal in a made-it-myself dress-especially if she uses these suggestions for original, eye-catching trim.

Velvet ribbons lace through the eyelets to make a zigzag pattern around the whirling skirt and give a narrow-waisted look to the laced cummerbund The halter blouse is touched, too, with velvet crosses.

The clever teen-ager can put in the eyelets herself, using the package of metal eyelets which comes with a special attaching tool. After marking the location of the holes with an icepick or other sharp - pointed instrument, she places the eyelet through the hole on the right side of the fabric. Then, from the wrong side, she places the tool over the neck of the eyelet and gives it one sharp tap with a hammer. Presto-the metal edges grip both sides of the cloth and refuse to pull out

Narrow ribbon should be cut to the right length strips and pulled through the eyelets Two shades of pink velvet ribbon are pretty against royal blue taffeta For extra sparkle, tinted rhinestones can be spaced between the ribbon.

Sewing experts advise reinforcing the eyelets on the wrong side with a muslin circle if the fabric is sheer or if it ravels easily. If a synthetic fabric is used, stitching should be done with a fine needle, preferably a No. 11, and seams stretched gently while stitching.

Smart teens know that the toughest fullback will notice a pretty girl in a pretty dress—and that the team will rate her "the most-ish sooth suit shit hel IIIC DBSE-est" if she steps from sideline to slagline in a dress she made herself.

DATE BAIT is one description for this blue taffeta holiday dress trimmed with pink velvet baby ribbon. Teen-agers will find it easy to apply the trimming.

SALES TALK

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (UP) — District Court Judge William M. Connell fined Sylvester Caspoh $20 on charges of hit-and-run and driving without a license The judge also offered the 21-year-old defendant a suggestion: "Sell your car."

Women Voters To Hear Talks on Mental Health

"Mental Health" will be the topic under discussion when members of the Marion League of Women Voters meet Wednesday evening at the YMCA.

Leading a panel discussion on the subject will be Miss Vivian Hall, director of the Marion County Welfare Department and Mrs Doris C Maxwell, executive secretary of the Family Service Society

Time of the meeting, which is open to the public, is 8 p.m.

FIREMAN'S LIFT

DANBURY, Conn. (UP) — After being carried from her burning apartment, Mrs. Abigail Lee asked the city to pay her hospital bills. She claimed the firemen who saved her life fractured her ribs.

Chest X-Ray Results Mailed

All but 15 Persons Tested Found Healthy

Results of 1,528 chest X-rays taken recently during a survey of students, teachers and auxiliary personnel of Harding and St. Mary High schools were being mailed today. At Harding High School, 1,328 persons were found to have healthy chests, while four cases of suspected tuberculosis were uncovered, in addition to four heart cases and seven cases of other pathology of the chest.

The 183 chest X-rays taken at St. Mary High School were negative for pathology of any kind.

This survey, sponsored and financed by the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association, was made possible by the sale of Christmas seals.

The follow-up on all of the suspicious cases will be done by the Marion County Health Department.

Around Council's Table

Marion City Council last night adopted five pieces of legislation, began consideration of others, heard various committee reports and voted unanimously to hold a dinner party previous to its Dec. 14 meeting. The party will be to honor incoming and outgoing Council members and is to be paid for by the individual Council members and others invited to attend.

Airport Repair Shop

Most discussed of the various pieces of legislation adopted last night was one concerning construction of an addition to an airplane repair shop at Municipal Airport.

City Solicitor George A. Piacentino explained to Council that the present operator of the repair shop, Alva Martin, now wishes to build an addition to the building.

He explained that under a previous ordinance passed by Council, Martin is renting a city-owned building at the airport for $20 a month and is licensed to operate the repair shop there for a period of five years.

Martin now proposes to construct an addition to the city-owned building at his own expense. Since this will require an investment of some $2,500 he also wishes a 25-year lease on both the old and the new building.

After considerable discussion and requests for clarification, Council decided to approve an ordinance licensing Martin to operate the repair shop for a period of five years at a yearly license fee of $25 and directed Piacentino to draw up an agreement with Martin to lease both the old and the proposed new buildings for a 25-year period at two-cents a square foot each year. The addition to be constructed by Martin will be of concrete block construction attached to the city-owned building. It will thus become the property of the city.

Watchman Authorized

An ordinance creating the position of night watchman at the city barn on Owens St. and setting the salary for the position at $250 a month was unanimously approved by Council. Purpose of the ordinance is to save the city necessity of payment of overtime to an employe working on an irregular shift serving as night watchman.

Pharmacist Approved

Unanimously adopted was an ordinance creating the position of pharmacist for Marion City Hospital and establishing the salary for the position at $4,200 a year.

It was reported by Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest that a pharmacist, Miss Wilma I. Ball of Canton has been working in that capacity at the hospital for the last month but could not be paid because there was no provision for a pharmacist position. He explained also that a pharmacist has become a necessity.

Two Claims Paid

Two ordinances adopted were for payment of damage claims. One was authorized for payment for damage to a car driven by Mrs. Thomas L. Hurley of 303 Hane Ave. She claimed the car was damaged when the front wheel dropped into a hole in the pavement while she was parking just north of W. Center St. on N. Prospect St. The claim was for $8.85. The other claim approved for payment was submitted by Policeman Floyd L. Wilson. He claimed $20.60 damage to his eyeglasses in an altercation with an escaped patient of a mental hospital Oct. 7.

Ordinance Proposed

A first reading was given an ordinance submitted by M. you Harold F. Robinson which would outlaw leaving abandoned iceboxes and refrigerators with door locks, hinges, or both intact.

Purpose of the ordinance is to discourage leaving old refrigerators in such a manner that a child may be trapped and suffocate in one. Violators would be subject to a fine of not more than $50.

Mayor Robinson patterned the proposed ordinance after one approved in Toledo last September following the outbreak of suffocations of children caught in abandoned iceboxes or refrigerators.

Specifically the ordinance prohibits any person, firm, or corporation from leaving outside a building or dwelling place accessible to children any abandoned, unattended, or discarded ice box, refrigerator or other container having air tight doors which may not be released from the inside without first removing the door, hinges, or door lock.

Zone Action Approved

A resolution was adopted approving action of the Planning Commission in granting a permissive use permit to the Marion Cleaners, Inc. to operate a synthetic dry cleaning machine in connection with a pressing shop at 599 Mt. Vernon Ave.

Ordinance Tabled

An ordinance establishing the position and salary of a record librarian at Marion City Hospital was tabled until the new general hospital is completed. Another authorizing payment of claim of William B. Kelly for children's toys accidentally hauled away by city trash collectors was returned to committee for further study.

Traffic Suggestions

Two suggestions concerning the city's traffic problems were made by Robert G. Haldeman, councilman-at-large. He suggested the possible use of additional 12-minute parking meters at the corners of Main and Center Sts. for convenience of persons wishing to stop in a bank, the courthouse or nearby business places for a short time. This would eliminate need to drive around the block many times seeking a parking space and would help relieve congestion at the intersection, he said.

His other suggestion was to bring in some kind of ordinance to control double parking of trucks during the rush hours on downtown streets. Both suggestions were discussed briefly but no action was taken on either.

One Bid on Garage

It was reported only one bid was received for supplying a garage for use of the police department in impounding automobiles illegally parked or found unsafe for operation following an accident. The bid was submitted by Short-Ford, Inc., Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest reported. Council directed Piacentino to bring in legislation approving acceptance of the bid.

New Men Present

Two of three newly elected Councilmen attended the meeting. They were Warren Diehl, councilmen at-large, and Ralph W. Williams, Fourth Ward. Asked to say a few words to Council, they replied they were there "just taking a lesson" in Council procedure. Their terms of office will begin in January.

Invocation was given by the Rev. J. Paul Goebel of First Evangelical and Reformed Church. All councilmen were present.

Sales Hit Billion Mark

CLEVELAND (AP)—Air conditioning and refrigeration sales will pass the one billion dollar mark this year for the first time, an official in the industry says.

George S. Jones Jr., of Washington, managing director of the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute, made the prediction in an address last night in connection with the all-industry refrigeration and air conditioning exposition.

Ore Shipments Continue To Hike Tonnage Mark

CLEVELAND (AP)—Every ton of iron ore shipped down the Great Lakes in the remaining four of five weeks of the season will increase what already is an all-time, one-season tonnage record.

The Lake Superior Iron Ore Assn. reported that in the seven days to yesterday morning 1,778,487 tons of ore were transported, raising the 1953 tonnage to 92,720,346.

The previous record, set in the war year of 1942, was 92,076,781 tons.

THIEF STEALS HEADACHE

50-Year Reunion Held by '03 Class Of Marion School

A dinner and social evening at the home of Mrs. J. P. Probst of 579 Mt. Vernon Ave. Saturday marked the 50th anniversary of the class of 1903 of the Harding High School.

Time moved swiftly for the party of 10 as school days were recalled. "The High School News" read from cover to cover, and James Fies read the last will and testament which he wrote for his class a half a century ago. The High School News contained the oration of the hostess who played the part of Ismene in the class play, "Antigone." The school paper was issued May 22, 1903. The class song also provided part of the evening's entertainment.

Letters were read from Minnie Diebold Metzler of Miami, Fla., Gertrude Eibling Ebert of Dayton, Anna Davis Scott of Detroit, Kathryn Carroll Johnston of Hollywood, Calif., and Mamie Stump Taylor of Urbana.

Present for the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ulsh of Caledonia, Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Van Meter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacoby, Mrs. Istaline Young Archer, Miss Meryl Cheney and James Fies.

The table decorations and menu were carried out in the class colors of crimson and gold and napkins were in red with "1903-1953" monogrammed in gold. An arrangement of fruit centered the table. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Roy Jacoby.

Of the class of 34 graduates, 17 are living.

Woman Who Gave Wine To Driver Goes to Jail

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Lucasville Magistrate Z. T. Fugitt may not be violently opposed to drinking.

But he didn't like the idea of 32-year-old Marie Kelburn giving wine to John Snyder, 30.

Snyder was in jail for drunken driving at the time. Now Marie's there too. Fugitt sentenced her to 11 months and 29 days and fined her $100.

Marion Auditor Disagrees With State's Report

Statement City Ended 1952 'in Red' Termed 'Ridiculous' by Shaw

Marion City Auditor Elmer Shaw today took issuance with a report issued yesterday by State Auditor James A. Rhodes' office indicating the city spent $409,431 more than its income last year.

Shaw said this was "ridiculous" and was an apparent misinterpretation of figures contained in a booklet called "Comparative Statistics, Cities of Ohio" which is issued yearly by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Division of the State Auditor's office.

Says Report Incomplete

In analyzing where the $409,431 "in the red" figure for the city came from, Shaw said he believes it is merely an incomplete report of city income compared with expenditures.

The report, listed a total of 79 cities in the state which were "in the red" last year and 60 cities which collected more than they spent.

Shaw said today he had talked to the state auditor's office and Eli Harris, state examiner at Mansfield who issued a report of receipts and disbursements of Marion for 1952 on April 16 of this year.

Both agreed that there must have been a misinterpretation of statistics, Shaw said.

Bonds Not Listed

Shaw pointed out that in "Comparative Statistics" total receipts of the city are taken as the revenue from all city departments—excluding all bond sales, notes and so forth. Using this figure for last year, Marion's receipts were $1,715,459. Shaw pointed out that this shows only the revenue from governmental sources such as tax returns, city hospital operation, sewage department operation, sanitation department operation and so forth without listing nonrevenue income from other sources.

In turn the total expenditures listed in "Comparative Statistics" combine operation, maintenance, interest, and outlay costs, he said.

Using this method, Marion's expenditures last year totaled $2,124,889. Subtracting the total receipts listed above from this "apparently leaves a deficit of $490,431," Shaw said.

Not All Revenue Listed

This is not complete, however, because no consideration is given non-revenue income while money spent for capital improvements such as the sewage treatment plant and general hospital is included, Shaw said.

Because the money to pay for these improvements comes from the sale of bonds, it should be included as part of city income, Shaw said. He said that while these bonds are a debt, they are paid for through bond retirement fund over a period of years and must be considered on a long-term basis in determining whether the city is operating "in the red or black."

Shaw gives the following figures as his accounting of city financial operations in 1952.

Last year Marion actually took in, from all sources, $1,806,177 more than its total expenditures, he said.

He includes in this revenue money from the sale of bonds for the new hospital and sewage plant.

He reported that during the year the city's cash balance increased nearly $2,000,000—from $965,513 at the beginning of 1952 to some $2,771,690 at the end of the year.

He pointed out, however, that by the end of this year the city's cash balance will drop to near $1,000,000. This is because of large outlays of cash in payment for construction of Marion General Hospital and the remodeled sewage treatment plant which have been made this year.

Green Camp Play Scheduled Tonight

KITTY KEMPTON

GEORGE RUSH

GEORGE BARBER

A few phobias may be cured tonight on the stage of Green Camp's new school auditorium when the seniors present their annual class play, "Bolts and Nuts."

The three-act comedy concerns one Rebecca Bolt, played by Pat Sheppard, who decides to turn her home into a mental sanitarium to cure phobias. Kitty Kempton plays Rebecca's niece, George Rush portrays Dr. Joy, a 'quack" psychiatrist; and George Barber takes the romatic lead as Kitty's fiance. Others in the cast include: Betty Bates, Marily Lindley, Betty Cline, Alvin Stover, Bob Bish, Joyce Willey, Louis Finch and Don Cleland and Bob Showers.

Curtain time will be 8 p.m. and the high school band will entertain for a half hour before the play. The band is under the direction of Miss Lenore Rice. A girls' trio comprised of Kitty Kempton, Joyce Willey and Becky Converse will sing at intermission.

Direction of the play has been in charge of Richard L. Granlee, speech instructor at the school.

Working back stage on tonight's performance will be: Miss Rosemary Avery, prompter; Mrs. Ruth W. Sloane, make-up adviser; Jack Mulvain, stage manager; Phyllis Bates, Ruby Van Wey, Judy Marsh, Myrna Long, Gloria Ganson, Becky Converse, Pat Wolfinger and Ann Cleland, ushers.

Following the play, there will be a party for the cast and their guests at Kitty Kempton's home

Greenwood building were discussed and several reasons pointed out for changing the administration offices. The crowded condition of the Pearl Street School playground located nearby, the lack of parking facilities at the present administration building, and the lack of space in the present building were listed.

Pay Increase Authorized

Substitute teachers were given a pay increase from $10 per day to $12, the first raise for the substitutes since 1947. It was reported that the Armory has again been rented for the practice and basketball games of the Taft Junior High School team, pending completion of their gymnasium.

The resignation of Mrs. Evelyn Redman, vocal music instructor at High Schools, was accepted by the board and the appointments of two teachers were confirmed. Mrs. Audrey Lugmbuhl is teaching the first and second combined grade at George Washington School and George Brazzle replaces John Finnegan as mathematics teacher at Edison Junior High.

Lester L. Dickey, city school superintendent, was requested by the board to bring a report to the next meeting on the number of pupils in each elementary building who would take advantage of the hot lunch program when it is put into effect. The hot lunch program in the elementary schools is the final stage of the present building program.

Harold Edwards, director of instruction in the city school system, reported on the zone conference held Sept. 25 and 26. Reports on the pre-school workshop held this summer at Taft Junior High were given by Norman Fogt, principal at Taft, Miss Janet Geddis, teacher at Vernon Heights elementary school, and Miss Clara Alice Wilson, principal at Pearl Street School.

It was reported that most of the city school employes had participated in the chest X-ray examinations held at the mobile unit which was stationed at the high school Oct. 20 and 21. The board passed a resolution requiring every employe to submit to the X-ray examination.

Report was made that razing of the Forest Lawn School has been completed and that the Linden Wrecking Co. of Columbus had been paid $1,000 for the project and permitted to take the salvage material.

Charles Harmon, vice president of the board presided in the absence of the president, Rodney Cox. Robert Kraner, who will take his position on the board in January, was a visitor at the session.

Police Arrest Playboy In Heiress' Apartment

NEW YORK (AP)—Police dragged one of Rome's wealthiest playboy globe trotters from the apartment of heiress Brenda Frazier Kelly early today in a tussle which left two officers and the visitor injured.

Pietro Francisco Mele, 30, frequently seen with Mrs. Kelly at Rome night clubs, was booked on a charge of felonious assault. He alleged refused Mrs. Kelly's request to leave the Park avenue apartment and tried to lock himself in a bedroom.

Mele, was badly beaten as police finally subdued him.

Brownell

come bitter political foes in recent years. The South Carolina governor supported President Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign.

Spruille Braden, an assistant secretary of state under Byrnes, and Adm. William D. Leahy, personal chief of staff to Truman, said they did not recall seeing any FBI report on White.

Dispute Mushrooms

Their names, and others, were brought into the mushrooming dispute late yesterday by Brownell. Eisenhower's attorney general issued a new statement declaring FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had given "full and adequate notice.... of spying activities" by White to the White House, to four Cabinet officials and four other top men.

Truman, who has termed Brownell's accusations a desperate political maneuver, maintained silence on the new statement. He turned aside with a "no comment all questions, including those about Byrnes' version.

A speech the former president made in New York City last night contained no direct mention of Brownell's charges or the steaming political furor they have stirred.

Byrnes, in a statement issued at Columbia, S. C., said he saw an FBI report on White's "affiliation with the Communists" the day before the Senate acted on White's nomination by Truman as director of the International Monetary fund.

Calls on Truman

He said he called at the White House the following day and told Truman, "In view of the charges contained in Hoover's report, I thought he should immediately ask the Senate to withhold action and then withdraw the nomination."

But, Byrnes continued, the Senate already had confirmed the nomination, and he then suggested that Truman should refuse to issue a commission to White. Byrnes quoted the former President as saying he had been told, on a previous occasion, that once the Senate acted he had no alternative but to issue a commission.

"I told him if he should send for White and tell him about Hoover's report, White would never resort to the courts."

Byrnes said he "got the impression" Truman was "disposed to follow that course" but he later learned that White was commissioned.

Not Sure of Date

The South Carolina governor said he did not remember the exact date White was confirmed by the Senate for the monetary fund job on Feb. 6, 1946. He died in 1948 a few days after swearing before the House Un-American Activities Committee that he had no connection with a Soviet spy ring.

Brownell appeared to have backed away slightly on one point from the charges he voiced in a Chicago speech last Friday.

He said then a detailed FBI report on White's "spying activities" was "delivered to President Truman through his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, in December 1945. Yesterday he said that report, and a second one on Feb. 4, 1946, were delivered to Vaughan "for the attention of the President." Vaughan has denied knowledge of such reports.

Brownell said yesterday copies of the first FBI report were sent to Byrnes and to these other members of the Truman Cabinet: Atty. Gen. Tom C. Clark, Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal and Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson. Forrestal and Vinson, who later became chief justice, are dead. Clark, now a Supreme Court justice, was not available for comment.

Others Get Copies

Brownell said copies also went to Leahy and Braden and to Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, then a lieutenant general in charge of War Department intelligence; and to Fred Lyon, a State Department division chief. Neither Lyon nor Vandenberg, a patient at Walter Reed Army Hospital, could be reached.

Adm. Leahy told a reporter; "I never saw any FBI report on Harry Dexter White as far as I can recollect. If I had, I might have looked at it."

Braden said in New York he recalls seeing an FBI report in late 1945 describing the activities of Alger Hiss and others suspected of Communist affiliations, but he added: "If White's name were in the report I think I would have remembered it."

Election

The seat at stake is the one relinquished by Norris Poulson, Republican, when he was elected mayor of Los Angeles.

Four in Race

Republicans have given their official endorsement to Glenard P. Lipscomb and the Democratic party organization is backing George Arnold. But also in the race are John L. E. Collier, Republican, and Irving Markheim, Democrat.

Lipscomb and Collier are state assemblymen. Arnold is a lawyer, son of Thurmond Arnold, assistant attorney general under Franklin D. Roosevelt. Arnold's wife is the daughter of columnist Drew Pearson. Markheim is a veterans' service officer who ran for Congress unsuccessfully against Poulson in 1952.

Republicans say the Democrats have an advantage of 6,000 more registered voters in the district.

Belatedly injected into the campaign yesterday was Atty. Gen. Brownell's charge that former President Truman promoted Harry Dexter White after the FBI reported it had information the man was a Russian spy.

Candidate Arnold countercharged:

Arnold's Answer

"Brownell has shown his true colors as a Republican political boss attempting to interfere in the election . . . I am not afraid of the Republican political bosses. If elected, I am going to be a watchdog to see that Brownell devotes his time to the nonpartisan job he is meant to perform, that of being chief legal officer of the United States."

Lipscomb said:

"I am sincerely concerned over the report that a known subversive was kept in office by Truman and even promoted despite reports that he was spying for Russia."

Bowling Green Quits League

Only Marion, Three Other Schools Remain

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green High School has withdrawn from the Buckeye League, the school athletic board announced today.

They cited "an unbalanced situation" as the reason for withdrawal. Fremont Ross has won or shared the league title the last eight years.

On Nov. 2 Tiffin Columbian withdrew from the Buckeye when admitted to the Northern Ohio League.

The withdrawal of Bowling Green in the league since 1939, leaves four schools, Fremont Ross, Findlay, Fostoria and Marion Harding.

munist explanation program would collapse unless the Reds abandon slowdown tactics and agree to new rules laid down by Thimayya.

Observers said there was little chance they will agree.

There have been growing indications that the Communists want to escape from the explanation program which has cost them a humiliating propaganda defeat. So far 97 per cent of the Chinese and North Koreans interviewed have refused to return to their Communist homelands.

There have been no explanations since Thursday.

Thimayya reiterated Tuesday that if the present system collapses he will use Indian troops to screen prisoners who have not been interviewed.

The Indian general told the repatriation Commission Tuesday he can see no solution to the stalemate unless the Reds agree to two new rules:

1. Call out and interview complete compounds of 500 prisoners each at a time or,

2. Agree to forget about odd lots of prisoners not interviewed in any single day.

Communist demands to see 356 men not interviewed Thursday out of the 492 in Chinese Compound C22, halted the present explanations.

The explanations were canceled again for Wednesday.

3 Ransom Bills Found

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — Three bills included in the $600,000 ransom paid in the Bobby Greenlease kidnap-killing have been uncovered. Two of them were found in Michigan, a third in Indiana.

Of the ransom paid, $308,000 has not been found. Finding of the bills raised immediate speculation by authorities that hoodlums may be peddling the money to professional "fences" at 30 to 50 cents on the dollar.

Two bills, one a $20 and the other a $10, were reported found here and in Detroit yesterday. Maj. Walter Weyland, executive officer of the Indiana state police, announced last night that a $20 bill had been found at Petersburg, Ind.

Graduates of High School Now May Become Air Cadets

For the first time since World War II days the Air Force is once again accepting high school graduates for aviation cadet pilot training, Sgt. Howard Wheatcroft, Marion recruiter reported today.

To qualify for pilot or observer training under this program, young men must be between the ages of 19 and 26½, have a high school diploma, be single, in good physical condition, and pass written examinations and aptitude tests for flying.

The training consists of 12 weeks pre-flight, 30 weeks of primary, 12 to 20 weeks basic, and several weeks of advanced training. While in training, cadets receive food, uniforms, flight clothing, equipment, housing, medical and dental care, regular monthly allowance of $109.20 and a free $10,000 government life insurance policy that remains in effect as long as they are on active duty.

Graduates receive a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve, with an aeronautical rating as a pilot or aircraft observer, a uniform allowance and a 30-day annual leave with pay. A second lieutenant on flying status, single, living off base, receives $438.58 a month. If married he receives $455.68.

Interested men who think they can qualify for this training should contact Sgt. Wheatcroft at the recruiting station on the third floor of the Courthouse.

Police Report Two Accidents

Auto Badly Damaged In N. State St. Crash

Two minor accidents were reported by city police this morning. The Marion station of the state highway patrol reported no accidents for the county.

A car driven by Henry J. Dutt, 66, of near Marion, was extensively damaged in a collision at the intersection of N. State and E. Mark Sts. at 702 p.m. yesterday.

Dutt was going east on E. Mark St. The other car, south-bound on N. State St., was driven by Clair E. Fields, 27, of 565 E. George St. It received only minor damage in the front end.

Police are investigating an accident last night on McKinley St. at Park Blvd. where a school zone sign was knocked down by a motor vehicle.

When police arrived at 8:35 p.m. they found a car parked at the cosner of McKinley St. and Olney Ave., just east of the scene of the hit-skip accident. The car was stopped with extensive damage to the right front wheel and the steering mechanism. No one was near the car when police arrived. Through its license plates, ownership of the car was traced to Leonard Levins of near Prospect.

Philippine News Service (PNS) said the vice mayor and his bodyguards were slain by local police.

A 7-year-old boy was wounded in the crossfire.

The special agent of Cavite Gov. Dominador Camerino was seriously wounded in the battle and died in a few hours.

Blamed for Killing

PNS said military investigators were told by witnesses the killers were supporters of Sen. Justiniano Montano of Cavite.

Montano is an ardent supporter of Magsaysay's Nacionalist-Democratic party coalition. Camerino is backing Quirino's Liberal party.

The senator and governor, bitter political enemies, are known to have armed groups of men for protection. Camerino said last week he would 'shoot it out" if Montano or his men appeared in the province on election day but Montano said he would be there to work for Magsaysay.

The gun battle was believed to have been set off by the arrest last night of 13 followers of a Nacionalista congressional candidate on charges of activities in the Communist-led Huk outlaw bands. Camerino confirmed the arrests.

Other Violence Reported

Police headquarters reported that another man was stabbed to death at Bacoor but gave no further details.

A 16-year-old boy was wounded in a different shooting near Bacoor when two jeeploads of armed men poured bullets at a house occupied by the local Nacionalista leader.

The youth died a few hours after the shooting.

In Cebu city, second largest of The Philippines, a Nacionalista backer was shot but most of the voting in Cebu province was reported orderly.

Military officials said 14 towns in Cebu province were placed under police control after the incident.

Secretary of State Dulles yesterday termed Russia's note a demand for "unconditional surrender" by the free world as a prior condition to any meeting with Soviets and Chinese Communist rulers.

The blunt, uncompromising nature of Russia's note may also have weakened Churchill's reported determination to meet with Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov, alone if necessary.

Dulles, in commenting yesterday on the note, said:

"The demands made on the United States, particularly those which are stated as preconditions to any meeting, are couched in language that bears little recemblance to that normally employed as between nations which are at peace."

These Days

By George Sokolsky

The position of the Defense Department on the question of security is that if there is a doubt concerning an individual, the doubt should be resolved for the benefit of the United States. In a word, the armed forces prefer that its personnel be free from suspicion. So many instances of espionage and subversion have been proved that they do not want to take any chances.

SOKOLSKY

While this position is obviously correct, the question does arise as to how far the formula may be applied to relationships. For instance, if a man is married to a Communist woman, he cannot be without taint because a party member will not marry or remain married to an opponent

IN PRIMITIVE jurisprudence, once a crime was committed, someone had to assume responsibility for it Therefore, if a father committed the crime, his son could be held for it even if he knew nothing about it

The Christian doctrine, upon which our law is based, is that each individual stands alone in the sight of God and the law, he alone is responsible for his conduct and he alone may be punished for it.

The concept of collective punishment is rejected in our civilization and Western European law has been written accordingly Sir Henry Sumner Maine, in his classic, "Ancient Law," said:

"The contrast may be most forcibly expressed by saying that the unit of an ancient society was the Family, of a modern society the Individual . . ."

IT CAN develop that in our anxiety and zeal to put an end to the theft of our offensive and defensive weapons, most of which have already been stolen, we shall be forced to apply the rule that all members of a family are responsible for the conduct of any one member.

Once we accept this doctrine, we reverse the development of Western thought and jurisprudence that each individual, created by God, is solely accountable for himself.

Here we have a conflict between Marxism and Christianity Lenin demanded that Communists devote all the days of their lives to the movement.

They may not marry unacceptable persons. They may have no social relations with those who are not Communists or even with those who have been purged

IF A MAN is a party member, the assumption is that his wife also belongs or is acceptable to the party

The development of Western civilization has been in the direction of tolerance for differences While intermarriage is not generally welcomed, social intercourse among those of differing religions is not resisted

In ancient times, the stranger—that is the differing one — was abhorred, today the general attitude is that he must not be abhorred or hated because he is different.

The need for greater security in the United States is unquestioned.

Russian spies and agents, infiltrating every institution of American life, have caused great havoc But nothing they have done can be as destructive of American life as the acceptance of Marxian doctrine and Marxian methods in order to destroy Russian espionage

HUMAN BEINGS are what they believe, and if our beliefs become Marxian, we shall lose our civilization, the roots of which are in the Natural Law — the revealed law of God to man.

Maine describes the issue thus:

"The moral elevation and moral debasement of the individual appear to be confounded with, or postponed to the merits and offenses of the group to which the individual belongs. If . . . the individual is conspicuously guilty, it is his children, his kinsfold, his tribesmen, or his fellow - citizens, who suffer with him, and sometimes for him . . ."

A friend of mine in China was jailed because his female secretary committed suicide in his office.

THE COURT held that she would not have committed suicide if there were no reason for it and as she did it in his office, she pointed a finger at the cause There was no other evidence, but he was found guilty.

One of the difficulties encountered in the United States in any stand for objective justice is that often when one speaks out against what seems to be an injustice to an individual, that individual subsequently turns up during an investigation as a spy or a subversive and protects himself by the Fifth Amendment. He blows up in the faces of his defenders.

It is a frustrating experience but it ought not to deter one from justice.

Workshop for Peace Is Called Off at Wooster

Canton Group Objects To Two Speakers on Program for Meeting

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—A two-day workshop for peace and security which Wayne County citizens intended to hold here this coming weekend has been canceled following objections by the Canton "Keep America Free Council" to two scheduled speakers.

The workshop had been endorsed by Congressman Frank T. Bow, Canton Republican; President Howard F. Lowry of the College of Wooster, Mayor John Grassbaugh, State Rep. Ralph Fisher and 27 other prominent Wooster clergymen, businessmen and professional people.

Advance literature said the workshop was a "local effort to Wayne County citizens to seek grass roots opinion and to put into effect the democratic, godly way to world peace." The notices said the workshop had no connection with any state or national group

Zack Zengler, executive director of the Keep America Free Council, said some sponsors of the meeting asked his organization to investigate the background of the principal speakers—Shepherd L. Witman, executive director of the Cleveland Council on World Affairs, and Kermit Eby, professor of social sciences at the University of Chicago.

The Canton group which was instrumental in getting a United Nations flag removed last year from a position next to the American flag on the Stark County Courthouse, said the two scheduled speakers had been associated with groups investigated by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

After the Canton Council report, Huber Delinger, chairman of the workshop, said: "To avoid further misunderstanding, we find it best to postpone our plans and change the program."

In Cleveland Witman said the Cleveland Council on World Affairs never had any connection with the Institute of Pacific Relations, as the Canton group charged. He said the Keep America Free Council last December "made a variety of charges that were without basis of fact" and added:

"I think it's tragic that responsible citizens will yield to such pressure and deny to the citizenry of their town the opportunities for free democratic discussion of issues which are vital to the security of this nation. I am vigorous in my attacks upon communism, and I believe that one of our strongest weapons is the traditional exercise of democracy as our founding fathers gave it to us . . ."

In Chicago, Prof. Eby, who had not heard of the program's cancellation, told a newsman:

"The consolation in giving way to hysteria of this kind is a mistake. I am now and always have been a minister in the Church of the Brethren and was connected with the CIO for six years (1942-48) as director of research and education. If I have been a member of 'communist-front organization,' I have done so deliberately because I have always taken the position I am not an inverse Marxist. I am not an inverse Communist. I do not think it's possible for a Communist to convert me, it's just as liable that I might convert him. . ."

9 Justices of Supreme Court Pay Visit to Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Led by Chief Justice Earl Warren, the nine justices of the Supreme Court made a formal call on President Eisenhower at the White House yesterday.

It was the annual traditional visit of the jurists to the mansion, where they were guests at a reception in Eisenhower's living quarters.

Mansfield District Churches Pledge $87,000 to Fund

Special to The Star

GALION — Methodist Churches of the Mansfield district pledged approximately $87,000, in an impressive service here Friday afternoon, to the program for church extension, camp site, national and foreign (principally India and Korea) missions.

Representatives of the churches presented the pledges on the open Bible that was a part of an effective setting at the altar of First Methodist Church This service was a concluding part of the fall session of the Mansfield district conference.

Dr. Kris Jensen, Methodist missionary to Korea, was the main speaker in the afternoon for the conference which opened at 10 a m. Some 72 churches in the district were represented, and Dr Sumner E LaFollette, of Mansfield, district superintendent, presided.

Dr. Jensen, now almost wholly recovered from the effects of three years of gruelling experiences as a prisoner of the Korean Communists in North Korea, is currently telling of his experiences to American audiences, and in Methodist churches

The afternoon meeting opened with devotions by Rev. H. J. Young of Central Church, Mansfield. Special music was provided by Miss Dorothy Plack, church organist, by Rev. David Skeen of Mt. Gilead who sang, and a vocal trio composed of Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs Alonzo Kreiter and Mrs. Chester Zimmerman.

During the morning, Rev Russell Linton of First Church, Ashland, led devotions, and addresses were given by Rev. Thomas Cromwell of Delaware, and J. J Dotson of Mansfield. Luncheon was served at noon by ladies of the host church.

Rev. Norman R. Somerville pastor of the host church was assisted by Mrs Floyd West in planning an impressive altar setting for the pledge service. The pledge of $87,000, will be due by Dec 31, 1956 by the churches of the Mansfield District.

Rites Held for Mother Of Winnie Ruth Judd

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The aged mother of Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious trunk murderess, died in the Arizona State Hospital (for insane), which she entered voluntarily 10 years ago to be with her daughter. Private funeral services for Mrs. Carrie McKinnell, 87, were held yesterday. Burial was in Englewood, Calif.

The music of the early Indian nowhere appears to better preserved than in New Mexico where among the Pueblo, Navaho and Apache Indians, it has been handed down by rote from one generation to another from prehistoric times.

Say Jets Scare Ducks

DENISON, Tex (AP) — Duck hunters who have worked the Lake Texoma area since the season opened Friday with little success have complained to Perrin Air Force Base that their jets are scaring off the ducks The base commandant said he would have his jets come in higher.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Here for the first time is the story behind the list of the 22 hotting American soldiers who have preferred to remain Communist prisoners-of-war rather than return to peace-time life in the United States. On this list are three GIs who were first snared into Communist propaganda in a prisoner-of-war camp by another GI close to the pro-Soviet labor leader Harry Bridges

RIESEL

The 22 brainwashed men who chose to stay behind the Bamboo Curtain include

Claude J Batchelor, Rufus E Douglas and Lowell D. Skinnel, who worked with another prisoner as far back as the winter of 1952-53 in writing propaganda which was released in the U S through Harry Bridges' union publication

THE PRISONER who first ensnared them, now walking around free and living well on the West Coast, is Paul F. Schnur, Jr.

His father, Paul Schnur, was chairman of the San Francisco committee to save the atomic spies Schnur, Sr , who 18 months ago released the propaganda sent him by his son from Communist Prisoner of War Camp Number Five, has planned pro-Communist rallies in support of the Sovietized Chinese Armies

Schnur, Sr , a long - time collaborator of Harry Bridges, is helping a Communist writer who covered the Korean and French Indochinese wars from the Communist side get public audiences

The Communist writer, a correspondent for the Daily Worker, is Joseph Starobin. Schnur scheduled a meeting for Starobin recently at 150 Golden Gate Ave, San Francisco, headquarters of Harry Bridges' West Coast Longshoreman's Union.

THE OTHER 19 unrepatriated GIs, who were obviously brainwashed by those who knew American intimately, are

Clarence O. Adams, Otho G. Gell, William A. Cowart, Andrew Fortuna, Samuel D Hawkins, Scott L. Russ, Laurance W. Sullivan, James G. Veneris, William C White, Aaron P. Wilson, Howard G. Adams, Albert C. Belhoome, Richard G. Corden, John R Dunn, Leslie W. Giggs, Arlie H Part, Richard R Tenneson, Harold H. Webb and Morris R. Wills

It is clear from their statement that these pitiful, captured GIs have been brutally indoctrinated They talk in terms used only by professional sovieteers.

They say, for example, that they are not coming back because America has gone "fascist" and that they would be "silenced" if they returned to their homes, from some of which, sob - wracked mothers are sending recorded messages pleading for them to rejoin their families.

THEY ALSO SAY that they are not repatriating because of the Taft - Hartley and Smith Acts. They denounce the arrest and imprisonment of the 56 Communist party leaders

When the former commander in Korea, Gen Mark Clark, reminded them of their American traditions and freedom, they retorted

"Unfortunately under present day conditions in America, the voices of those who speak out for peace and freedom are rapidly being silenced. The murder of the Rosenbergs, the legal lynchings of Willie McGee and dozens of other Negroes since we have been prisoners, are the best comment we can make to Clark's statement."

Obviously this was written by a professional Peking propagandist.

There is considerable reason to suspect correspondents of American Communist publications who have been permitted to write from behind the Soviet lines and are now lecturing back here in the U S.

REGARDLESS of who prepared the wash for the brains of the 22 GI who was later discharged as fect

They talk of "playing our part in achieving" the Soviet program in America and say, "We know the American peoples will receive us back on that day with open arms"

Obviously, the Sovietized Chinese propaganda division in Peking is preparing to parade these unfortunates across Asia as an example of rebellious American proletarians

This Soviet operation can be countered by the one man who knew some of them in the prison camps and got their names on the first Party - line petition there —he is Paul F. Schnur, Jr., the GI who was later discharged as undesirable.

If he speaks out and reveals how these men were brainwashed, he will serve not only the living Americans, but those of his buddies who died for world decency under Communist fire.

Ego Buster

By Laura Hobson

"Drunkometer" is the somewhat indelicate name for an invention that New York's Police Department will start testing next Monday, and if it works out, it's going to be mighty unpopular with any citizen brought in on a tipsy - driver charge

HOBSON

Looking to my untrained eye like a table model TV set with the tubes on the outside, this scientific little monster can measure down to 1-20th of 1 per cent of alcohol in the blood and thus should end all arguments about whether the suspected motorist "had only a coupla beers" as invariably claimed or enough liquor to plaster a horse.

FIRST THE accusing driver will be invited to blow up a balloon, much like the bright red balloons of his childhood innocence, if any

If he refuses to blow, he loses his license. If he blows the inflated balloon is attached to the Drunkometer and delivers its airy evidence to a set of chemical solutions within.

Should the breath say "alcoholic breath," even his best friends won't tell him the way out of his fix about his driver's license, because there won't be any.

All of which sounds like a fine step toward removing one cause of our 1,350,000 annual traffic injury cases which include the hideous total of 38,000 deaths.

If Dr Rolla N Harger, who invented the Drunkometer out at the Indnana U. Medical School, is now casting about for other machines to build so we can nail other types of road menace, I've got a suggestion I'll happily hand over, and no scraps later on about patent infringement or credit line.

My private name of it is "Egometer" The Egometer would measure, for instance the amount of brag impulse in those drivers who have to show you that their getaway is faster than yours and that they have more horsepower than you on the stretch

It would weigh to the milligram the amount of brass in the guy who cuts in two inches ahead of your left fender, and the amount of gall that makes him blast you clean out of your seat the instant the light goes green

IT WOULD uncover the hidden compulsion in him to own the road, beat the speed limit, and pass cars on tight curves

Gall, brass hidden complexion—they're all synonyms for ego, and there's a lot of it gone haywire on every city street and parkway and highway in America

The psychologist for Detroit's traffic court, Alan Canty, told a National Safety Council meeting in Chicago the other day that out of 10,000 "problem drivers" sent to his clinic by the courts, many thousands were "psychoneurotic emotionally unstable, impulsive and irresponsible . . . disturbed by inferiority feelings . . . many because of small stature, poor clothing, lack of money, or driving a dilapidated car."

The only personal data I'd add to that quote is that plenty of the problem drivers I've ducked on the road didn't look small in stature, didn't wear poor clothing, nor drive jalopies.

Poor or rich, natty or in rags they were just show - offs and bullies by nature, weisenheimers on wheels who wouldn't be safe driving kiddy kars

Let them see a line of traffic creeping up a narrow road on a steep grade — these jokers simply have to prove that keep - to-the-right rules weren't made for them

SHOW THEM a thick grey blanket of night fog — they've got to zoom along at seventy and risk everything within crashing distance

"Got to" is right When I'm safe at homee, in a soft and humane mood, I can speculate sympathetically about what childhood miseries and frustrations must have happened to create these compulsive highway exhibitions's, but when I'm out driving, with my two boys in the car alongside me I just wish some humanity-loving scientist would invent an Egometer right away.

Then it could be used along with the written test and the road test by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in every city of the 48 states.

No operator's license would ever be handed out to any slap - happy applicant whose ego let go real hard and hit the gong on top.

CALF'S STOMACH YIELDS $850. Bank officials Hazel Martin and O. G. Webb (left) count $850 found in the stomach of a calf belonging to W. G. Dinsmore (right) shown examining another calf that swallowed the rest of the missing $890, lost by Dinsmore on his farm near Roswell, Ga. He shot one calf and found nothing but grass inside. He shot another calf and recovered the $850. He suspects the rest of the money was eaten by the third calf, but did not kill it because he felt the calf was worth that.

127 New Citizens To Aid U.S. Military Intelligence

BALTIMORE (AP) — The United States is getting 127 new citizens today—all from countries behind the Iron Curtain.

They'll help their new country in military intelligence assignments, the Army said. A swearing-in ceremony was scheduled today for the group members of a military intelligence training battalion at nearby Ft. Meade.

U.N. Declaration Of Human Rights Stays in Textbooks

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The State Board of Education has refused to cut out all references to the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights in world history textbooks for Texas school children.

It voted 12-3 to adopt books that would include the text without "any editorial comment."

The board thus rejected a request of its textbook committee made up of 15 schoolteachers that the human rights declaration and authors' opinions on it "be deleted from all world history books recommended."

The U. N. document among other things condemns discrimination based on race, color, sex, language, religion or politics.

1,000 OUT ON STRIKE

Brownell's Charges Snowballing

GOP Opens Bitter Attack on Truman

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration began its attack on former President Truman's handling of Harry Dexter White, who died five years ago, by questioning, if not his motives at least his judgment.

Now Truman's recollection, if not his truthfulness, is being challenged.

Truman, in a manner typical of his early White House days, answered fast, shooting from the hip, when the attack began. "I don't recall that such a thing happened," he said. Now more cautious, as he was later in the presidency, he is replying to questions with "no comment."

The unfolding drama already is a playwright's dream, including so far in its cast of characters three dead men in addition to Truman, President Eisenhower, Atty Gen Brownell, Congress, members of the Truman Cabinet, and others.

In the past few days—the drama just began last Friday—it appears to have picked up enough speed to carry it far into the headlines of 1954. Congressional investigations, which begin Thursday, should give it added thrust.

When he fired his first shot at Truman Friday with Eisenhower's blessing, Brownell said the White House had been informed by the FBI in December 1945 and February 1946 that White, then an assistant secretary of the Treasury, was a spy for Russia.

Brownell said that, in the face of these FBI reports, Truman nominated White to represent the United States on the International Monetary Fund and then appointed him after the Senate, without being told of the FBI reports, gave its approval.

Truman responded promptly. He said he had no such recollection but "as soon as we found out that White was wrong we fired him." That was in 1947, a year after White's apointment.

But James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, just as promptly on Friday challenged Truman's statement about the firing. Hagerty said White had resigned with a congratulatory note from Truman on his work.

Truman replied to this by saying it was and still is customary to let fired people resign from Washington jobs. It was not clear whether, after he found White was "wrong," Truman had an investigation made to learn what damage, if any, White might have caused the country. White's record is now being examined at the Treasury, where he worked most of his 14-year career in the government.

Yesterday, in support of his charges, Brownell said the FBI reports on White had been sent not only to the White House but to some members of Truman's Cabinet, including James F. Byrnes, and some other high officials.

At the time of those two FBI reports, Byrnes was Truman's secretary of state. The two men were friends then. But by the time Byrnes resigned they were not friends. They have been bitter political antagonists ever since.

Last night Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, said he had not seen the first FBI report (December 1945) because he was out of the country then. But he said he saw the second one (February 1946) and went to Truman about it at once.

Byrnes said Truman told him he also had seen the FBI report and was surprised. Between the first and second FBI reports Truman had nominated White to the monetary fund job, which required Senate approval.

In his statement Byrnes said he urged Truman to withdraw the nomination. But on that very day, Byrnes said, the Senate had approved White, not knowing about the FBI reports.

Thus Byrnes was saying that Truman knew in February 1946 about the FBI report on White, whereas Truman has said as soon as he learned White was "wrong," he fired him, which was not until 1947.

Brownell said two other Cabinet members at that time—Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson and Secretary of Defense James Forrestal—had been given the FBI reports. Forrestal and Vinson, who later became chief justice, are both dead.

In his statement Byrnes said he talked with Vinson about White on the same day he had talked with Truman—that Vinson came to see him after being told by Truman about White.

Byrnes said it was his understanding that Vinson intended to urge Truman not to appoint White to the monetary fund job even though the Senate that day had approved him. But he heard no more about it, Byrnes said, until he read in the papers that White had been commissioned for the job by Truman.

CAPTURED. Mrs. B. R. Doughty, hunted for two days after she disappeared from Evansville, Ind., with a five-month-old boy with whom she was hired to sit, sits moodily in U. S. Marshal's office at Hugo, Okla., after being arraigned on a kidnaping charge. The child, Richard Lee Stammer, was taken from her unharmed, when FBI agents arrested her at the home of her parents.

Indiana Couple Reclaim Their Kidnaped Son

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A young Indiana sailor and his wife, overjoyed at recovering their baby boy unharmed but bitter at his kidnaper, prepared today to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duane Stammer, still almost unable to believe 5-month-old Richard Lee was safe in their arms, were to leave by plane for Evansville, Ind.

They uttered words of bitterness at Mrs. Tommie Dene Doughty, a 17-year-old former carnival stripteaser with a mother complex who admitted taking the child while baby-sitting for the Stammers Friday night.

"It doesn't matter to me what they do to that girl," said the 18-year-old mother. "I have no sympathy for her. She had none for me."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Doughty, who said she wanted the child to replace one lost at birth, began to show the first signs of remorse from her jail cell at Muskogee. The twice-wed girl held under $20,000 bond on kidnaping charges, insisted:

"I didn't commit no crime. I was going to take the baby back. I got to thinking about his mother felt, it made me feel awful."

But Stammer, 20, and his wife, who had given the baby up for lost, were unforgiving, remembering the teen-ager's vow to get Richard Lee again when he is grown.

They flew to Oklahoma yesterday when the FBI announced it had arrested Mrs. Doughty at her parents home near Bokchito shortly after she completed the flight by bus and hitchhiking.

Recipe Needed for New Scientific 'Doughnuts'

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP)—Engineers at the University of California at Los Angeles are looking for a better recipe for "doughnuts."

These are not the kind you dunk in coffee, but tiny ceramic doughnuts—so called because of their shape—used in the memory mechanism of certain electronic computers.

They are made of black magnetic oxide of iron combined with other metallic oxides. Their function in the computers depends upon the magnetic properties of the oxides.

Formula for making the devices now in use have not proved entirely satisfactory, so UCLA engineers are looking for a new recipe.

Till Short on Cash So Gunman Passes It Up

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—A gunman walked into Maurice Shulman's variety store last night and demanded the contents of the cash register.

Noting there was less than a dollar in the drawer, the intruder said, "It wouldn't pay."

He left empty-handed.

INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

RICHWOOD — The Richwood Garden Club recently met at the home of Mrs. Howard Temple. Mrs. A. O. Grooms reported at least 6,500 tulip bulbs to be planted in Richwood this fall have been sold. Roll call was answered by each member presenting her arrangement of dried material and naming specimens used. New officers for the year were installed by Mrs. Myron Miller, president. Mrs. A. O. Grooms, vice president; Mrs. Claud Swartz, recording and corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wilbur Parish, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Gill, Mrs. Swartz, program chairman, presented, Mrs. R. J. Langstaff who talked on "The Birds of Our Neighborhood" while Mrs. Grooms showed the film, "Birds In Your Garden." Mrs. W. C. Bowen gave the "Bird of the Month." Plans were made for Christmas program Dec. 1, and party at the home of Mrs. R. J. Langstaff.

Display Prepared by Teachers Shows Damage of Vandalism

School students have gained a greater understanding and respect for the amount and cost of materials that go into the construction of a school building after seeing a display created by two Marion teachers, school officials believe.

The display contains samples of the various types of construction materials used in the building of the new Harding High School.

Worker Tells of Vandalism

The idea for its creation came last year while construction was in progress at the new building. Mr and Mrs. Thomas Bain of 932 Sheridan Rd were at the site watching the building's progress when one of the construction workers mentioned the vandalism that was plaguing their work on the building.

Mrs Bain, who teaches at Olney Avenue School, thought about this vandalism and wondered how she could make her grade-school youngsters aware of its detrimental effects so that when they became of junior high and senior high school age they wouldn't add to the vandalism.

She and her husband, who teaches at Harding High School, came up with the idea of making the display. She used it last year in her class and noted the interest of the youngsters in learning about the materials. Other children in the school wanted to see the display, too, so Mrs Bain was asked by her principal to present her talk to other classes.

Students Help Project

This year, with the high school students moving into their new building, school officials remembered the display and asked Mrs. Bain if she would talk to the students of the other schools.

She asked for the help of several high school students whom she trained in presenting the talks to the various schools in town. The talks were concentrated in the week preceding Halloween and school officials are hopeful that these talks might have been influential in holding down vandalism.

Harding students who helped Mrs Bain in presenting the illustrated talks on vandalism included Jerry Emery, Murray Leeper, Shirley Hoffman, and Diane Gillis.

The state motto of Texas is "Friendship." The name "Texas" stemmed from the Spanish pronunciation of a Caddo Indian word meaning "friends."

This microscopic view represents the first authenticated picture of an isolated poliomyelitis virus, one of several photographs shown before the Electron Microscope Society of America meeting at Pocono Manor, Pa. The oval objects, in clusters and singly, are the virus magnified 77,000 times. Indentations and larger swollen spots are on the surface of the background material.

Crawford Bridge Construction Now Nearly Completed

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Crawford County Engineer E. A. Stetzer announced here that construction of three new bridges and repairs on three others are expected to be completed this month.

Total costs of the projects is $26,786, including $22,568 for new bridges and $4,218 for repairs and maintenance.

New bridge construction includes a $9,323 steel truss structure, a 48 foot span with a 20 foot roadway, in Polk Township on State Route 19, one mile south and one mile west of Galion; a $7,995 steel bridge with a 43 foot span and 20 foot roadway on County Road 23, two and one-half miles north of State Route 98 in Liberty Township; a $5,250 steel truss structure with a 43 foot span and 18 foot roadway on Cranberry Township Road 13 one mile north and one-half mile west of New Washington.

Concrete work on all but the Cranberry Township bridge has been done by the Champion Bridge Co. Costs do not include county highway department labor and concrete used for abutments, Mr Stetzer pointed out.

Three bridges are undergoing minor repairs, sandblasting and painting. They include the W. Mary St. and Lane St. bridges over the Sandusky River in Bucyrus and the Shearer Road bridge over the Olentangy River southeast of Galion. The sandblasting and painting are being done by S. W. Jury, of Wyandot.

Gifts for Overseas Relief Contributed At Church Meeting

Contributions of many items of household materials for overseas relief and an offering of $57 39 were received at the World Community Day observance Friday afternoon at Trinity Baptist Church. The project was sponsored by the Marion County Council of Church Women. "Building [illegible] Lasting Peace" was the theme.

Mrs Bertha Jacobs of Columbus, returned recently from Europe, spoke on "Stretch Forth Thy Hand." She is editor of the Courier, news publication of the United Church Women of Columbus and Franklin County.

To introduce her remarks, she read the account from the Bible of Christ's healing of the man with the withered hand, recorded in Mark. She then applied the "stretch forth thy hand" command to people of this country "who have so much." Because of modern inventions, she said, "people who live in poverty elsewhere know that there are others who do not live in such circumstances. In this atomic age we must co-operate or we cannot survive. We have so much to give that we should stretch forth our hands to the needy."

Organ prelude was by Mrs C. W. Davis, and Mrs. R. C Alexander led a call to worship. Rev. J. B. Holloway, host pastor, gave invocation, and Mrs. Holloway led singing. A meditation on "Peace" was given by Mrs. Rolland Augenstein. Prayer was by Rev. H. V. Falor, president of the Marion County Ministerial Association.

Mrs. Tim Wyant sang "American Prayer," Rose, accompanied by Mrs. Karl Scholl. Presentation of offering was made by Mrs. Edith Bush, and the ushers included Mrs Ralph Epley, Mrs. Harry Woodall, Mrs. Kenneth Johnston, and Mrs Minnie Metcalf. Registrars were Mrs W H. Brown and Mrs. Ralph Wingett.

RICHWOOD CIRCLE MEETS

RICHWOOD — The Hope Vale Missionary Circle of the Baptist Church recently held its regular meeting in the church parlor. Members of the Annie Richards and Paul Vick Circles and World Wide Guild Girls were guests. A vocal duet by Sandra Turnet and Joyce Swartz opened the meeting. Mrs. Turner was the accompanist. A playlet was presented by Mrs. Robert Turner, Mrs. Ernest Debolt, Mrs. H E. Burnsides, Mrs. L. W. McDaniel, Mrs. Giles McDaniel, Marcia McDaniel and Mrs. Claud Swartz. Mrs. Earl Minke sang; accompanied by Mrs. John Brobeck, pianist of the hostess circle. Group singing led by the president, Mrs. Minke, closed the program.

He's Superior Judge

Wife Yields to Husband on Fashions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Many a wife today knows more about baseball, politics and the stock market than her husband

But she has to tip her hat to him in one field—he is likely to be a better judge of women s fashions

This somewhat revolutionary view is firmly held by John P John, the noted milliner whose clan for four generations has been telling the world's beauties what kind of clothing they look best in

'Men have basically sounder fashion tastes than women because they are more interested in the women themselves than the things they put on their backs or atop their heads " he said "They know when a style looks right on the the woman they love, and when it doesn t "

That is why 'Mr John" likes wives to bring their husbands along on shopping safaris to his gilded white and gold hat palace on the east side

'Men like women to wear a hat with a clean, simple uncluttered line " said John who hates gadget hats himself The boss of his life is a lady customer who yearns for what he calls 'memory or headache hats "

'Maybe when she first met her husband she was wearing an ornate baby blue hat with baby blue tulle and she wants another just like it John said, shuddering

'I can t tell her she s too old for that kind of monstrosity I just tell her I m 20 years too old to design one It s wrong to go around wearing fashion memories "

John bosses his feminine clientele with an imperious air that amazes and rather awes their husbands who aren't accustomed to seeing strong minded women bow meekly to any male decision

The 45 year-old designer has 200 employes grosses better than two million dollars a year, but designs every hat himself, working always from a living model He designs every day, can turn out a new one in five minutes

"I've designed between 15 000 an 20 000 good hats in the last 20 years," he said modestly. Somehow you don't ask, "and how many bad ones?" That would be like asking a big contractor, "did you ever put up a really lousy skyscraper?"

John's dark hair is plastered down as if he had just come in out of the rain. He combs it that way because it adds to his striking resemblance to Napoleon, his hero He owns a military uniform once worn by Napoleon and likes to play the role of the French emperor at society charity balls

Napoleon personally designed the hats for some of his troops " he said "They were quite good. Very dashing—quite bravado '

John is a custom milliner who lives in a penthouse, mixes socially with his elite clientele, and is sorry housewives and stenographers can't afford his hats, but after all he just isn t interested in the mass market

"There's a countess in every town who doesn t want to look like the mob " he said, cheerfully, "and what better way can she show her individuality than by wearing an expensive hat?"

His hats range from $65 to $500 and he once demanded and got $20 000 for designing one for Vivien Leigh in "Gone With the Wind "

A husband, picking up a creation so light and small a wren could have flown off with it in its beak said dazedly after learning the price

' Why, there's hardly anything to it "

"What is there to a Rembrandt painting," icily replied John, "except a few dabs of paint and a piece of canvas?"

His customers range from Marlene Dietrich to Gypsy Rose Lee, Gloria Vanderbilt Stowkowski, and wealthy South American ladies who buy up to 40 hats a year.

John recalled that on one occasion the Duchess of Windsor picked a hat she liked, then inquired the price

"Please " said Mr Joan reproachfully, "now you're ruining the romance "

2 Massachusetts Children Missing, 650 Join in Search

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP)—Approximately 650 searchers, including 400 high school students and 100 Boy Scouts, checked woodlands and ponds in Framingham and nearby towns today for a young brother and sister, missing since noon Sunday

A helicopter, a diver and Civil Air Patrol planes also were brought into service in an around-the clock search for Thomas Gilmore, 8, and his sister Carol Ann 7

Diver Charles Light worked at farm pond near which two children were reported playing Sunday afternoon Several boats cruised around the water

State detectives and the FBI also were on hand

The youngsters' mother, Mrs Dora Gilmore, 42 expressed fear they met with foul play

County Man's Auto Looted by Vandals

In one case of vandalism reported Monday to the Marion County sheriff's office approximately $65 worth of equipment was removed or damaged from an automobile belonging to Tolva Newsome of near LaRue

Newsome told sheriff's deputies that he ran out of gas early Saturday morning and was forced to leave his car on Route 95 west of Marion

When he returned to it several hours later he found the left door had been forced and taken from the car were its battery, spot light radio, voltage control and wires from the spark plugs.

Escaped Reformatory Inmate Wounds Father

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—An escaped reformatory inmate borrowed a rifle from a neighbor last night and shot his father when he returned home, the Madison County sheriff said

Frank Covey 28 will be charged with shooting with intent to kill his father Leonard, 73, Sheriff Harold Bidwell said

An argument apparently started when Covey told his family he had escaped from the Indiana State Reformatory at Greencastle last May Earlier he said he was working out-of-state

The father, who lives on a farm about a mile south of South Solon, was shot in the left hand

Young Covey explained "I meant to shoot my brother, ' the sheriff said

OIL DOCK BURNS IN PEORIA. Billowing black smoke rises from a burning tank truck and loading platform of Cities Service Co bulk plant at Peoria, Ill, after fire broke out while the truck was being filled with fuel oil Five explosions accompanied the fire. No one was injured. Fire threatened huge gas storage tanks 600 feet away.

Truck Rams Marching Soldiers, Injures Eight

DES MOINES Iowa (AP)—Eight soldiers in a marching formation of 66 were injured when a pickup truck rammed into their formation as they marched along a highway adjacent to the Des Moines Airport early today

Cpl James Barnard 22 a Californian, suffered a fracture of the lower leg but was reported in good condition

The remaining seven were taken to Veterans Hospital here where their injuries were described as cuts and bruises with possibly some mild concussions

Grandmother Likes Horseback Riding

Mrs. Alice Wilson at 74 Still Finds Old-Time Hobby Enjoyable

By MIKE HUBER

There are some who say golf is good exercise for those who are getting along in years.

But one 74-year-old great-grandmother in Marion will tell you she prefers the bridle path to the golf course any day.

She is Mrs. Alice Wilson of 1006 N. Main St., matriarch of a four-generation family of 82 persons.

A native of Marion County, Mrs. Wilson has been riding horses ever since she was four years old on her father's farm. And despite her present age, she continues to ride, getting on a horse whenever she can get out to the farm of her son, Bernard Wilson of near Cardington.

MRS. ALICE WILSON OF MARION, who has been riding since she was four, still takes pleasure in the sport despite her years. She is shown here on a horse owned by her son, Bernard Wilson of near Cardington.

MRS. WILSON recalls that she was thrown the first time she ever mounted up. "But it didn't scare me," she says. "I kept on riding."

Mrs. Wilson prefers a horse that has a lot of spirit. "I like to ride or drive a horse that you have to pull on the line, not push," she says.

She recalls that in her younger days her father would turn over to her any horses that he could not handle. "It's a wonder I was not killed," she says laughingly.

HORSEBACK RIDING is only one of the many things that has kept Mrs. Wilson's life a busy one. She has always been active in one way or another. "I never slept much, day or night," is the way she puts it.

At the age of 13 she started to work on farms in the county at a wage of $1.50 per week. "I used to do housework, gardening, raise the chickens or anything else they wanted done," she remembers.

Married just two days before her 18th birthday, Mrs. Wilson raised 12 children. In addition to doing the housework, she made all of her children's clothes, but she always found time to do the other things that came along.

DURING WORLD WAR I when there was a shortage of manpower on the farms, she went into the fields to help out. For eight years she drove a Morral school bus and, during four of those years, delivered The Marion Star in Morral.

After her husband's death in May, 1930, she continued her active life. For a short time she ran a small farm in Morrow County and after that owned and operated a restaurant in Upper Sandusky.

Just prior to moving back to Marion in 1947, she owned and managed a Bucyrus filling station that specialized in vulcanizing tires.

One of her spare time occupations has always been visiting the sick.

MRS. WILSON was born in Marion County on Feb. 5, 1879. Her father, Jeremiah Sims, was a native of Iowa who moved here in his youth. Her mother, Jenny Postal Sims, was born and raised in Marion County.

The family was a large one; Mrs. Wilson was raised with four sisters and three brothers.

During Mrs. Wilson's youth, the Sims family never lived on one farm permanently. "We moved from place to place," she recalls. "My father was a good farmer. He would fix up one farm and then we'd move to another."

It was the same way after her marriage. The Wilson's improved one farm and then moved to the next before finally settling in Morral for 20 years.

ALTHOUGH NOT as active as she once was, Mrs. Wilson still manages to ride about once a month. But most of her time is spent crocheting rugs and doilies which she gives away as presents.

She lives alone now but close to her daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Walters, who lives just north of Marion on Route 23.

Eight of her 12 children are still living. In addition to Bernard and Mrs. Walters, they are Alfred and Mrs. Lucele Bean of Marion; Mrs. Gennelle Holycross of near Marion; Mrs. Avah Butcher of Walbridge; Mrs. Jessie Wethrill of Kenton; and Mrs. Evelyn Platt of Cardington.

Mrs. Wilson also has 24 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

Marion Man Arrested On Court Bench Warrant

J C. Arter, 54, of Marion was arrested by Marion police yesterday on a bench warrant issued by Municipal Court Judge W Dexter Hazen.

The warrant directed police to have Arter appear before Municipal Court to answer a charge of resisting arrest.

Arter was freed after posting $100 bond yesterday for an appearance in the court scheduled Nov. 27, Don Williamson, assistant city solicitor, reported today.

Arter was charged with resisting arrest Sept. 17. The warrant charged he "did resist officer Homer Watson, a duly appointed, qualified and acting police officer of the city of Marion, O."

Judge Hazen said today he had issued the bench warrant after Arter failed to appear for a hearing in the court scheduled Nov. 5.

Williamson said today Arter will be given a jury hearing, at Arter's request, on Nov. 27.

CAB Renews Franchise for Lake Central

President of Airline Indicates Expansion Of Routes Considered

Marion was apparently assured today that Lake Central Airlines will continue present schedules of eight flights a day to Municipal Airport at least until Jan. 1, 1956.

In addition a statement from the Dr. R. B. Steward, president of the company, indicated ther may be addition of one or more flights each day in the near future.

The statement noted that the Civil Aeronautics Board recently made a decision to extend the airline's certificate for operation as an air mail route until Jan. 1, 1956.

This seems to indicate that the company will be subsidized by the federal government at least until that date on presently established routes. This in turn means continuation of all flights connecting Marion with such points as Chicago Pittsburgh

In his statement, Dr. Steward pointed out that the CAB previously extended Lake Central's certificate through Dec 30, 1952. At the same time, the CAB issued an order asking the company to show cause why its certificate should not be extended until midnight Dec. 31, 1955. The renewed certificate was issued as a result of a recent hearing on this show-cause order.

Under the renewed certificate, the airline will continue its present schedules through Marion, To provide this frequency of service, the company plans to use seven DC-3 type aircraft to fly a scheduled two million miles during 1954, The company estimates it will also carry 70,406 passengers over its entire system next year.

Presently operating under certification as air mail route 88, Lake Central announced it hopes to further extend this service soon. Dr. Steward said in his statement that studies are now underway and application has already been made for additional routes.

Edward Norris, assistant station manager for the company at Marion said today that this apparently means proposed routes of the company from Charleston, W Va to Detroit and from Detroit to Chicago.

Norris noted that if these routes are placed in service, the one from Charleston will fly to Detroit via Marion, Lima, and Toledo. Also the one from Detroit would be via Jackson, Mich. to Chicago. The combination of these two routes would give Marionites direct service to Lima, Toledo, and Detroit.

NEW HOME MORTGAGES

CHICAGO (UP)—More than 1,000,000 home mortgages will be issued for the first time during 1953 by savings and loan associations and cooperative banks, according to forecasts of the United States Savings and Loan League. The loans will top $8,000,000,000 to set a new high, the league said.

Fremont Ross Climbs to Fifth in State Grid Rating

Massillon's Grid Machine No. 1, Meets Giants Friday

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Massillon and Portsmouth, each with an impressive eight-game victory streak for the season, continued their fight today for the Ohio high school football championship.

Chuck Mather's Tigers, winners of the Ohio scholastic title the last five years, clung to the top spot in the weekly Associated Press poll of 41 sports editors with 357 poll points to Portsmouth's 308—the highest total either has garnered this fall.

However, Massillon extended its lead by a single point, having led 278 to 230 a week ago, a 48-point margin as compared with today's 49.

Dayton Chaminade and Warren of the top 10 were beaten over the weekend, and New Philadelphia's Quakers were tied, but the results failed to change the voting to any great extent.

Chaminade, dumped 28-20 by Cleveland Benedictine, skidded from third to fourth, and Benedictine jumped from among the also-rans to 10th place. Warren dropped from fourth to eighth as thrice-startling 19-0 win over the Panthers. Now Philly, its goal line still uncrossed but tied Friday 0-0 by Columbus East, fell from sixth to seventh.

Youngstown Ursuline, a narrow 7-0 victor over Youngstown Wilbur Wilson, fell from ninth to eleventh as Benedictine moved in.

Massillon smothered once-beaten Toledo Waite 41-2, and Portsmouth, was impressive in a 58-0 conquest over Steubenville Central Catholic as the top-placers continued their duel. Cincinnati Purcell won 40-0 over Cincinnati St. Xavier to jump from fifth to third, and Fremont Ross moved to fifth from the eighth slot with a 32-14 win over Marion Harding.

Toledo DeVilbiss won its eighth straight, 27-13 over Toledo Scott, to advance from tenth to ninth. Middletown went from seventh to sixth after defeating Dayton Fairview 41-6.

Massillon, Portsmouth, Purcell, Fremont Ross and Toledo DeVilbiss of the top 10 have won eight in a row. Dayton Chaminade, Middletown and Cleveland Benedictine have been beaten once. Warren twice, and New Philly has been deadlocked.

The scoring records of the leaders: Massillon 311-41, Portsmouth 288-42, Purcell 261-38, Chaminade 321-67, Fremont 315-47, Middletown 188-52, New Philadelphpipa 200-0, Warren 193-104, Toledo DeVilbiss 190-56, and Cleveland Benedictine 210-72.

Here's how 41 sports editors rate the teams this week: (Voting on 10-9-8-etc basis).

Single Platoon Plan Good for Power Runners

NEW YORK —The days of the blasting fullback of the Bronco Nagurski school are not gone—just ask the Notre Dame and Penn football players.

Penn's Joe Varaitis and Notre Dame's Neil Worden are being compared with Minnesota's great Bronc since they were turned loose on each other in the 28-20 Irish victory over the rugged Quakers last Saturday.

After Varaitis crashed what had been considered the almost impenetrable middle of Notre Dame's line for 85 yards and a touchdown, Irish Athletic Director Moose Krause said his performance rated him in the Nagurski class as a runner. Worden, the workhorse of the Irish backfield, is being tabbed less powerful than the Bronc and slower than former South Bender Joe Savoldi but comparable to both.

Outstanding fullbacks are few this year but the return to limited substitutions has given line smashers like Worden, Varaitis, Wisconsin's Alan Ameche, West Virginia's Tom Allman, Texas' Dougal Cameron and Georgia Tech's Glenn Turner an opportunity to prove their versatility and durability.

Official Word Due On Marty Marion

BALTIMORE (AP) — The official word is due today whether Marty Marion is to manage the Baltimore Orioles next year and the conjecture is that the answer will be no.

Marion and Art Ehlers, Oriole general manager who is making the decision, talked four hours behind closed doors yesterday, but enough seeped out to make the odds appear against Marty.

In the first place, there was no good reason given for Ehlers' saying "Marty's position will be determined in the next 24 hours." Some tought it was to give Marion time to get out of town and back home to St. Louis.

Marion made it clear, "I want to manage the club—definitely," and that he wasn't resigning.

Marion also said he had refused to haggle over the contract he had with the St. Louis Browns and which runs through next year.

The contract also might have tipped what is in the wind. Ehlers and Marion telephoned William Harridge, American League president, for his opinion on what happens if a manager with a contract is released and takes another job in baseball.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

A growing rumble about football officiating in recent games was temporarily halted here over the weekend with almost perfectly called games in the outings by St. Mary and Harding.

SHORT

However, in the two previous weeks fans had worked themselves into a lather by the officiating. The complaints started during the Richwood-St. Mary game here and continued through the Harding-Ashland and St. Mary-Carey games.

The Richwood game, won by St. Mary 55-6, was the worst. In that game, both teams were hurt by pass interference calls which any fan would have told you had never existed. One was called on St. Mary's Johnny Messenger as he ran toward his own goal line in an attempt to intercept an overthrown aerial. He and the intended receiver leaped for the ball, both fell and the interference was called. The one against the Tigers was almost as bad.

Harding fans are still wondering what Chet King was doing wrong at Ashland. Chet has been running with his knees high for two seasons of football and in that game was told by an official to change his running style. The official gave no reason but threatened to oust King unless he obeyed.

At Carey, many fans for both teams thought they detected a pair of clips on a runback by Carey of an intercepted pass. However, none was seen by the officials. On one play which left everyone confused, Roger Micheli hit Don Shoemaker with a pass. Shoemaker was shoved out of bounds and one official laid his cap at the spot marking it. Another official placed the ball on the inbounds marker and was set to resume when the third official called the play back, signalling an offside against the Irish. He then gave the signal the five-yard penalty had been refused and no yards were stepped off. However, play continued from the original line of scrimmage. St. Mary received neither the passing yardage nor a penalty but did lose the down.

When Coach Ray Robbins questioned one of the officials he was ordered to leave the playing area immediately or else. No explanation has been arrived at for the queer decision to this day.

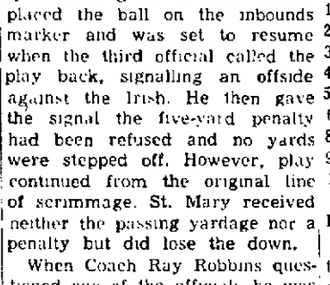
Following the game, the three officials rushed up to the Carey coach, Mearl Atkins, with only one thought in their minds. One asked point blank, "Who's got our checks?" They did pause long enough to tell Atkins that anytime he wished to know anything during the course of a game, he should just ask.

Robinson Reported Due For Shift to Baltimore

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics and the Baltimore Orioles are reported on the verge of a deal centering around first baseman Eddie Robinson—but the climax probably won't come until the Orioles settle the little matter of a manager.

The rumors of an A's—Orioles deal dimmed temporarily yesterday when General Manager Arthur Ehlers of Baltimore announced a final decision on the status of Marty Marion would be withheld 24 hours.

COLORED TAG TEAM, CHAMPIONSHIP WRESTLING BIG ARMORY CARD THURSDAY



It will be another big 8 Wrestler card at the Marion Armory Thursday featuring some of the country's top names.

In one of the feature matches, the colored team of the famous Black Panther and Ricky Waldo will meet the Angelo Brothers, Martino and Gino; they hold the Indiana Tag Team Championship.

The other main event will be the Tri-State Championship match between the belt holder, Scotty Williams and the tough Irish McGee. The 8:30 Opener is also all star with the rough George Thomas meeting the Irish Strongman, Barney Degan. This is by far the best card seen in Marion in Months, better call Markert & Lewis early for the best ringside Prices, $1.00-$1.50, Kids 50 cents.

Illinois Gains Support in Poll; Irish Still No. 1

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's newspaper and radio football experts continue to pick Notre Dame as the No. 1 team with Maryland and Illinois steadily gaining runner-up support.

The Fighting Irish polled 79 of a possible 125 first-place votes in the seventh weekly Associated Press balloting and a total of 1,159 points on a system which gives 10 points for each first-place vote, nine for second and on down the line.

Notre Dame has been on top in every poll this season. This week Maryland gained 31 points on the Irish, probably because Notre Dame had a real battle before overcoming underrated Pennsylvania 28-20 last Saturday. Maryland whipped George Washington 27-6.

Illinois, which like the first two teams is unbeaten but which was tied by Nebraska in the season opener, took over third place from the Baylor Bears, who tumbld to ninth after being beaten by Texas 21-20. Illinois rolled over Michigan 19-3.

Maryland got 24 first place votes, Illinois got four.

Michigan State moved up from fifth to fourth after defeating Ohio State, and Georgia Tech, beaten only by Notre Dame, advanced ~~one to Notre Dame~~ between from sixth to fifth.

Oklahoma, apparently headed for another Big Seven title, jumped from eighth to sixth and UCLA advanced from ninth to seventh with the least possible effort. The Uclans didn't play last week.

West Virginia's narrow squeak against Virginia Tech in which the Mountaineers had to come from behind in the second half for a 12-7 victory cost them support and they slipped from seventh to eighth.

Texas is the only new face in the top 10. The Longhorns replaced Duke as the No. 10 team after the Blue Devils were held to a scoreless tie against Navy.

The top 10 (first-place votes in parentheses):

1.	Notre Dame (79)	1,159
2.	Maryland (24)	1,034
3.	Illinois (4)	919
4.	Michigan State (1)	741
5.	Georgia Tech	650
6.	Oklahoma (1)	591
8.	West Virginia (11)	455
9.	Baylor	402
10.	Texas	240

FORGOTTEN MAN IN SERIES

NEW YORK (AP)—When it comes to looking around for a forgotten man in the 1953 World Series don't pass up Pitcher Ray Scarborough whom the Yankees released late in the summer. Scarborough, a 10-year-man, finished with the Detroit Tigers. Had he permitted the Yankees to send him to the minors Scarborough would have shared in the World Series. But as a major leaguer with another club he is not permitted to share in it. However, Ray made a good deal with Detroit and it carries over through 1954.

Hayes Expects Trouble From Purdue Squad

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Woody Hayes is looking at the team—not the record—as his Ohio State Buckeyes prepare for Saturday's Western Conference game here against Purdue.

The last-place Boilermakers have played seven, lost six. Their lone victory was the upset of the year, the 6-0 victory over Michigan State.

Despite the lopsided Purdue record, Hayes says he is getting ready for a tough game. "You can't take this Purde team lightly," he commented at a sports luncheon yesterday.

In the last 10 years, Hayes said, the Buckeyes haven't been able to beat Purdue. Of five games played in that period, the Boilermakers won four, tied one. Last year Purdue beat Ohio State 21-14.

Purdue has been hampered all season by injuries. In Saturday's game, only 1 senior, along with 4 juniors and 6 sophomores, will be in Purdue's starting lineup, giving Ohio a big edge in experience. Ohio will start 4 seniors, 4 juniors and 3 sophomores.

The Lafayette, Ind., team is coached by Ohio State Alumnus Stu Holcomb. Eleven Ohioans are on the Purdue roster. They are: Fullback Eugene Barnhorn of Hamilton, centers John Allen of Fremont and Glenn Knecht of Cincinnati, guards James Willey of Toledo, Walter Houston of Massillon, Russell Addison of Alliance and Charles Andres of Hamilton, tackles Dave Whiteaker of Toledo, Tom Decatur of Middletown and Richard Clatterbuck of Massillon, and end Thomas Redinger of Bay Village. Allen, Whiteaker and Redinger are lettermen.

SMITH SCORES AGAIN

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — The individual scoring champion in Duke University football the past two seasons has been won by a guy named Smith. In 1951 Charlie Smith won the scoring crown with 42 points. Last year Charlie finished second to James (Red) Smith. The latter had 50 points to Charlie's 48. Red returns for the 1953 season but Charlie is now in the service.

Finales Slated Friday

Harding, St. Mary Wind Up Seasons With Road Games

Harding and St. Mary grid teams will wind up their campaigns Friday in games away from home.

The banged-up Presidents will travel to Sandusky while the Irish play at Elm Valley with the Mid-Ohio Conference crown at stake.

Harding turned in one of its top performances of the season Friday night in falling to powerful Fremont 32-14. But the performance was costly. Coach Pete Howison described his charges after last night's practice sessions as 'really banged up.'

On the doubtful list for Friday night's finale are Whitey Clinger, Fred Price, Jim Whaley and Harding's candidate for All-Ohio honors, Bob Hamor. Hamor, the team's No. 1 tackle, is slowed by a bad back received during the Fremont tussle. Price, who has been working at quarterback and as a defensive half, also has back troubles. However, he was at practice last night and Howison thinks he may be ready for Friday. Clinger, a senior guard, is out with a severe charley horse and Whaley suffered a gash in his foot during the practice session. Howison reported Hamor's back has been X-rayed and he is waiting a report from the tests.

Harding will carry a record of five wins, two losses and a tie into the game. Both the losses and the tie came at the hands of teams rated high in the Associated Press high school grid poll. Fremont vaulted into fifth place this week while Columbus Central is resting in 23rd.

St. Mary's Irish will be seeking the clincher in its bid for the first Mid-Ohio Conference crown against Elm Valley. The Irish, also fresh from their top performance of the season last Saturday against Mansfield Madison, have a record of three wins and no losses in the league. A win would give them the crown. A loss to the Aces, however, would throw the race into a tie between St. Mary and Richwood.

Bucyrus Legion Group Hears Minor Leaguers

BUCYRUS — Guests of honor at the annual Bucyrus American Legion post athletic banquet held Sunday night at the Legion home included three former members of the Bucyrus Legion's Junior Baseball team, now playing in minor minor leagues.

Telling of their experiences on farm clubs of major league teams were Jake Striker, southpaw hurler with Peoria, Ill., a Class B outlet of the Cleveland Indians in the Three-I League. Dan Bumstead, another southpaw hurler, who played with Lawton, Okla., last season in the Class D Sooner League and Charles Armstrong, a catcher on the Corning, N.Y., Club in the Class D Pony League.

Russell L. Miller, Crawford County agriculture agent and a Bucyrus resident about 20 years, told of his experiences while pitching with the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies.

Supreme Court Rules Baseball Still Is Sport

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has said it will keep hands off professional baseball, and that put it up to Congress to decide whether something should be done about the game's disputed reserve clause

No action seemed likely any time soon

The Supreme Court decision yesterday said that baseball, as a sport, is not subject to the federal antitrust laws. The court thus did not consider legality of the reserve clause, under which the services of baseball players are in the absolute control of the club holding them under contract.

Some baseball people, such as minor league boss George Trautman, interpreted the decision as meaning that "we can proceed with confidence, knowing that there will be no legislation put in the way of the game."

While Trautman may be right, it is not certain. For Congress has the right to legislate as it sees fit in regard to baseball

Rep Keating (R-NY) chairman of the House judiciary subcommittee on monopoly, said his group will consider "with an open mind" any legislation proposed about baseball

He said he is in complete agreement with the 7-2 Supreme Court majority which ruled that baseball is a sport, not an interstate business within the meaning of the nation's antitrust laws.

But he said his subcommittee will study any legislation "either to bring baseball squarely under the antitrust laws or exempt it expressly from its provisions."

The Supreme Court ruling, from which Justices Burton and Reed dissented could foreshadow defeat for the government's antitrust action against the National Football League The government argued that the league's restrictions on radio and television coverage of games is in violation of the antitrust laws

But if pro football, like baseball, is held to be outside the province of the antitrust laws, it doesn't matter whether it violates those laws

There were three baseball cases before the Supreme Court, on appeals from lower court findings by George Toolson and Walter Kowalski, former minor league players, and Jack Corbett, a former minor league club owner

The court's 200-word decision said simply the majority justices could see no reason to overturn a 192 Supreme Court decision that baseball is a sport, not interstate commerce.

Frederic A Johnson who represented Kowalski in the proceedings said the Supreme Court modified the 1922 decision "to the extent that the regulation of the game is now within the jurisdiction of Congress."

"Under these circumstances" he said, "I doubt if there will be any resort, in absolute or modified form, to the wholesale blacklisting that has been a characteristic of baseball since the death of Judge Landis"

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick had this to say of the Supreme Court decision

"Naturally I was pleased with the decision I have always felt that baseball was primarily a sport and not the kind of business that congress intended to bring under the antitrust laws

"The decision clarifies that point However, it does not mean that baseball is granted a license to do as it pleases.

"Until the decision was rendered, baseball was in a fog of uncertainty. Now the atmosphere has been cleared. From now on, the responsibility is ours of modernizing baseball; of meeting the challenge of changing conditions; of stepping from the past into the changing present and making sure always that our decisions and our policies are based on honesty, on fairness, on true sportsmanship and with every consideration to the best interests of the fans and the players and those others who have made baseball our great national game."

Mohawks Lay Streak on Line At Fort Wayne

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Mohawks of Cincinnati place their four-game winning streak on the Fort Wayne ice tonight in an International Hockey League tussle.

The Mohawks pushed through 33 goals and allowed only 6 in winning the quartet

A victory at Fort Wayne would put Rolly McLenahan's skaters into the league lead, precariously held today by the Toledo Mercurys. The Mercs have a 7-3-1 record, compared with Cincinnati's 7-3-0 and Troy's 7-5-0.

In play last week the Mercs whizzed in four goals in 52 seconds, a new IHL record. The Mercs made the previous IHL mark of 1:28 in 1949.

Dick Pontarollo scored twice and Roy Hammond and Jack Novak once each in the record-breaking effort after Marion led 3-1 in the game. Johnny Kovich, lightening lineman, made three assists.

Johnstown, now in fourth place was tied for first briefly with Toledo They set back the Mercs 5-4 and then lost to Troy 10-7 Fort Wayne, in fifth, also split its two games last week

Team	W	L	T
Toledo	7	3	1
Cincinnati	7	3	0
Troy	7	5	0
Johnstown	6	3	1
Fort Wayne	5	6	2
Grand Rapids	4	5	0

Heavy Draft Calls Predicted for Next Year by Hershey

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Draft calls next year will be heavy, says Gen Lewis B Hershey, U. S selective service director.

Hershey was here yesterday to attend a meeting of the Assn of Land—Grant Colleges and Universities.

He predicted

1. There will be no end to selective service "in my time."

2 Next year will see heavy draft calls because a lot of four-year men are finishing their hitches and "we don't know how many . . . will re-enlist"

3. Draft quotas will be comparatively low until mid-1954, but will be high during the following 12 months.

4 There will be no change in the present policy of deferring college students with high grades "before next September, unless something happens"

Barons Sign New Defenseman; Del St. John Handed Release

The Marion Barons today announced the signing of a new player, to bolster the unsteady defensive play of the local squad.

Dale Anderson, 21-year-old Canadian star, has been obtained to help fill the gap. He comes to Marion from Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan and is a native of Regina. Last year he played with the Prince Albert team and was named to a defense post on the league all-star team

The new Baron weighs in at 190 pounds and stands 6-3.

Officials of the Barons also announced the release of Del St John He has been returned to Sarnia, Ontario, where he is expected to finish out the season He has been with the Marion club since the start of the International Hockey League season.

He has seen action in most of the Barons' games and has been a wingman on the line composed of Murray Wilkie and Harold Jones.

Woman Elected to City Council in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The second woman elected to the council in the history of Ohio's second largest city is Mrs. Dorothy Nichols Dolbey, 45, the mother of two teenagers and active in civic and church organizations her national political allegiance goes to the Republican party, but locally she belongs to the Charter committee a group of liberal Republicans and Democrats

Like other cities, Cincinnati hold its municipal election last Tuesday But because of a slow system of counting votes, her election wasn't secure until yesterday

Three Drug Firms Ordered To Pay $10,000 Damages

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland woman's suit for $35,000 for pain and suffering she charged were caused by taking a liquid salt substitute brought a $10,000 award from a federal court jury here yesterday.

The case was the first of nearly 40 filed in Cleveland. The trial before Judge Emerich B. Freed lasted five weeks

Defendants were the Foster—Milburn Co, Inc, manufacturers of the product—sold under the trade name "Westal"—and McKesson—Robbins, Inc, and Westwood Pharmacal Corp, both distributors of the product.

Sale of the product was stopped after the United States Food and Drug Administration branded it harmful and banned it early in 1949

Mrs Ethel Ridgeway, 53 who filed the case decided yesterday, died Nov. 10, 1950. Her husband, Rodgers, subsequently filed a $50,000 death suit in which the same jury refused to award damages

11 Superior-Type Military Planes Being Built in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm Dewitt C. Ramsey, president of the Aircraft Industries Assn, says U. S manufacturers have in development or production 11 types of military planes "superior to any types in existence or under development abroad"

Ramsey said yesterday on an American Legion broadcast, prepared for use by some 600 radio stations, that the 11 types range in size from day fighters to heavy bombers

He said U S manufacturers are providing the armed services with 6 000 jet planes a year—23 types of combat jets, 15 of them fighters

American Jewish Congress Critical Of Probers' Tactics

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Jewish Congress said yesterday the House Un-American Activities Committee has embarked on a new course that "threatens religious freedom in this country"

For a long time the committee has pursued 'un-American methods" by "its use of discredited witnesses and the irresponsible release of uncorroborated accusations," the congress said, and added,

"The committee now is expressing judgments on who shall occupy the pulpits of America, what materials shall be circulated by churches, what agencies the churches shall create for the fulfillment of their objectives and what causes ministers of religion may not espouse"

The statement was contained in one of several resolutions adopted by 1,500 delegates at the close of the 17th biennial convention of the congress.

New Sun-Tan Ray Polio Vaccine Shows Promise

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—A new polio vaccine, made with aid of sun-tan rays, shows promise in its first human tests, Chicago scientists reported today.

This vaccine uses polio virus inactivated or "killed" by exposure to ultraviolet light or sun-tan rays for two seconds.

It thus differs from the famous vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E Salk of Pittsburgh, The Salk vaccine scheduled for mass human tests soon, inactivates the viruses with formaldehyde

The sun-tan vaccine produced antibodies against all three types of polio virus in most of 30 human volunteers, Doctors Albert Milzer, Sidney O. Levinson and H J Shaughnessy of Michael Reese Research Foundation and Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, told the American Public Health Assn. at its annual meeting.

The 30 included a few persons who before vaccination had no detectable antibodies against one or more of the types of virus Usually, the vaccine brought a four-fold increase in antibodies any of the volunteers had from previous unknown exposure to polio.

The key to a safe vaccine is to render the polio virus powerless to cause sickness but still keep some of its power to make a human produce antibodies against the virus

The Chicago team said they believed sun-tan irradiation of the viruses offers a promising method of doing this

They expressed belief their vaccine still has only a minimal ability to stimulate antibodies. Efforts should be made to step it up either by better methods of growing virus or by concentration of virus

Their next tests will be upon children and infants who are found not to have any antibodies against any type of virus.

Critical safety tests were made on monkeys to make certain that the virus had been rendered harmless for infection.

Sales of Kinsey's Second Book Are Ahead of His First

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr Alfred C Kinsey's book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female"—second of a series—is away ahead of its predecessor in number of copies shipped to bookstores in the first nine weeks of publication

A spokesman for the W B Saunders Publishing Co., publishers of both "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male" and Kinsey's latest report, said 270 000 copies of the second book have been sent to stores

When the first book was released Jan 1, 1948, Saunders had advance orders for 6 400 copies. In the first nine weeks after publication shipments of 93 000 copies were reported. To date 275,000 copies of the book have been sent to book dealers the spokesman said

GLORY DAY—AIN'T THE SNOW GRAND?! IT LOOKS JUST LIKE A LOTTA POPCORN AN' ANGEL FEATHERS—
THAT'S ONE WAY OF LOOKING AT IT — TO A LOT OF PEOPLE IT LOOKS LIKE CHILBLAINS SKID CHAINS FROZEN EARS AND SLIPPERY SIDEWALKS—
I GUESS THAT'S WHAT IT WILL LOOK LIKE AFTER THEY SPOIL IT—NOW IT LOOKS LIKE A BIG WHITE WEDDING CAKE ALL DECORATED WITH LITTLE GREEN CHRISTMAS TREES—
I JUST LOVE A WHITE CHRISTMAS — OR A GREEN CHRISTMAS—BUT WHEN THE GROUND IS BLACK AN SLUSHY, IT'S TERRIBLE—I DON'T LOVE A BLACK-AN'-WHITE CHRISTMAS!

Authority on Crime Urges Early Help For Errant Youths

NEW YORK (AP) — Family pride often is to blame for a child growing up into a criminal, says one juvenile delinquency authority.

The beginnings of the criminal path often can be detected in a child before he even reaches high school, says Will T. Turnbladh, director of the privately supported National Probation and Parole Association, and former chief probation officer of Los Angeles County.

"Parents often have too much pride to admit their child is troubled, and in need of help from such professionals as psychologists and juvenile court judges," Turnbladh said.

Yet, treating delinquency is like treating a disease," he added. "You have to get it at the onset. Otherwise it spreads and often is fatal.

"Too often a parent will kiss off a problem with the comment, 'oh, he'll outgrow it.' Unfortunately, he sometimes doesn't."

"John Dillinger didn't," the probation official continued. "A look at Dillinger's record shows his revenge against society stemmed from a minor run-in with authority in his teens."

Turnbladh has no fast rules for spotting beginnings of delinquency. Each child, he explains, is an individual case. His one warning to parents is:

"When a child is violently unhappy in what most of us would consider a normal home and community atmosphere, he may be headed for trouble. It is a danger sign when a child cannot adjust to authority, either at home or at school."

"I would consult professional help," he continued, "if my child—once aggressive and extroverted—suddenly turned into a quiet and withdrawn youngster. Or, I would worry if a quiet child suddenly became a bully."

Turnbladh says there is no widespread increase in juvenile delinquency, but there is a slight growth in cases involving older children.

He approves of the scheduled congressional investigation of juvenile crime and says it will have done the present and future generations a great service if it points up only one thing—the need for the community to develop facilities both for preventing and treating delinquents.

The world's largest coal mine — U. S. Steel's Robena Mine in Green County, Pa. — last year produced 3,332,872 tons of bituminous coal from the 8-foot thick Pittsburg seam.
